TWO MEN, ILL, KILL SELVES

FRITZ KRAMER, JOHN BAILEY ARE VICTIMS

Newell Inventor, 65, Sends Bullet Into Head.

DIES INSTANTLY

East End Marine Fireman Slashes His Throat.

Kramer's Body Found in Room.

John Bailey, 55, steamboat fireman, died in the City hospital after cutting his throat with a razor at his home, a two-room house near the Trenle and Homer Laughlin potteries, in East End.

Fritz Kramer, 65, retired coal miner and inventor of a so-called fuelless motor, died almost instantly after sending a 32-calibre revolver bullet into his head in his room at the home of Superintendent of schools A. D. Osborne, Second and Washington streets, Newell.

Kramer's body was found by Osborne when he returned from a Newell drug store after having a prescription filled for the sick man. In Kramer's right hand was the revolver, with one chamber empty.

Fireman Lived With Son.

Bailey, who lived with his son, Everett, slashed his throat shortly after the latter had returned to work at the Trenle pottery at noon. The man's daughter-in-law summoned her husband, who took his father in an automobile to the hospital.

The body of Kramer was taken to the Arner funeral home where an inquest will be conducted tonight. Bailey's body was taken to the Kelly funeral home in East End.

Today

Mexico's Revolution.

Practical British.

Hoover and Portes Gil.

Mr. Candler Knew.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE Mexican government seems to be gaining steadily in revolutionary fighting scattered over a wide Mexican area.

Those who say the Mexican people are not interested in this revolution are mistaken. Millions of Mexicans are intensely and passionately interested in what they consider an attack on the established religion of Mexico. It is a religious protest rather than a revolution in the usual sense.

AMERICANS who bought shares in the British General Electric company are told that new shares will be issued only to British subjects. Americans are told "United States capital is not wanted in England." American investors are not desired as purchasers of the new stock.

THE new stock will be worth double its price or more, which may have something to do with a practical decision.

In any case, it will teach Americans to invest their money in home enterprises, of which there are plenty.

BRITAIN is to be congratulated on the fact that "United States capital is not wanted in England."

It is not long since five billions of it was wanted there, in a hurry, and this country sent it. And it isn't so long since this country consented to accept part payment in settlement of that debt.

CONCERNING government oil lands, President Hoover says simply: "We are going to keep them, not lease them or sell them." That will suit the people.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, says congress should decide such matters, but the country is content to have President Hoover decide them, since he decides the right way.

IF THE president can stop the criminal waste of national oil wealth he will render a service to many future generations of automobile owners. Fortunately, he knows that, and probably, he knows how to go about conservation even of oil in private hands.

ASA G. CANDLER SR., who invented Coca Cola and made millions, is dead. His life proves that attention to detail is the foundation of success. After attention to detail comes capacity for SUPERVISION. "Organize, deputize, supervise."

Orrville Kidnaping Case Probably Will Go To Jurors Tomorrow

MERGER CHIEF

Louis Porter.

Louis Porter, Chicago furniture dealer, is the promoter of the American Chinaware corporation, a merger of 20 eastern Ohio potteries, including the Knowles, Taylor and Knowles and Smith-Phillips plants here and the National China company at Salineville. Names of officers and selection of headquarters of the combine are expected to be announced before April 1.

AGED MAN DENIES STEALING CHILD

Arthur Arnold, 17, Faces Direct and Cross-Examination This Afternoon in Wooster.

WOOSTER, O., Mar. 15.—(INS) — Indications that the Arnold case will not go to the jury until tomorrow morning, were given at the trial shortly before noon today.

Elias Arnold, admitted bootlegger, who with his son, Arthur, 17, is on trial here for the kidnaping of four-year-old Melvin Horst, was recalled to the witness stand when court opened this morning.

Elder Arnold Denies Charges.

At first it was thought that the testimony of the white-haired father had been completed yesterday. This gave rise to reports that the case would go to the jury early today.

Now it appears that the case will not be given into the hands of the seven men and five women until tomorrow morning, or possibly late this afternoon, though this latter eventuality was not deemed probable.

Under cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Walter Mougey, the older Arnold steadly denied that he had any connection with the abduction of the four-year-old boy from the streets of Orrville on the night of Dec. 27.

Rebuttal Witnesses Called.

Arthur Arnold, the son, then resumed the stand. It is expected that his direct and cross-examination testimony will take up the greater part of the early afternoon. After that, several rebuttal witnesses will be called, it was learned from the prosecuting attorneys.

Closing arguments will then begin, and unless Judge George A. Starn lengthens the afternoon's session there is little likelihood that the case will go to the jury.

The fate of the missing lad is still

CROWDS FIGHT AT COURTHOUSE

WOOSTER, O., March 15. — (INS)—A near riot resulted here this afternoon when crowds fought to gain entrance to the court room in which the two Arnolds, Elias and Arthur, are standing trial for the kidnaping of four-year-old Melvin Horst. Hundreds outside rushed for the court room when it was opened for the afternoon's session. Glass in the entrance doors was broken, and a door was loosened from its hinges. No injuries were reported, though several persons are known to have sustained bruises. Bailiff O. C. Franks and sheriff's deputies experienced much difficulty in restoring order.

HOURS 7 TO 10

Souvenirs Will be Distributed on Third Floor.

The new Erlanger store, Fifth and Washington streets will be opened for inspection between 7 and 10 o'clock tonight. Nothing will be sold until Saturday morning.

Cochran's orchestra will be in charge of the music. Souvenirs will be given to women who visit the third floor.

PATROLMAN DYING FOLLOWING CRASH

DAYTON O., March 15.—Motorcycle Patrolman C. A. Richeson is near death today, despite two blood transfusions last night.

The believed-fatal accident occurred as Richeson was chasing two men suspected of robbing a warehouse. He crashed into a parked automobile, and the handlebar of his motorcycle penetrated into his stomach.

BURGLARS RAID HOUSE, TAKE DOG

COLUMBUS, O., March 15.—(INS) —"Oh where, oh where, has my little dog gone?" S. F. Griggs was singing that song today. He reported to police that burglars had ransacked his apartment and that the only thing missing was his pet dog.

HOOVER NAMES THIRD SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Appointment of Representative Walter H. Newton (R) of Minnesota, as a third secretary to President Hoover, was announced today at the White House.

Representative Newton, who has served ten years in congress, will fill a role new to Washington—that of a co-ordinator and liaison officer between the president and the various governmental departments.

J. H. MAYHEW, 75, DIES IN CHESTER

J. H. Mayhew, 75, formerly of Pughtown, died at noon today from a paralytic stroke in the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. Y. Miller, Indiana avenue, Chester, W. Va.

CALLES TROOPS SEIZE DURANGO AS FOE FLEES

Mexican City Falls Without Shot Being Fired.

ARMY ADVANCES

Rebels Retire to Parral, Northwest of Torreon.

Way Open for Drive.

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, war minister and field commander of the federals, led the column that occupied the city.

The city fell without a shot being fired, the rebels retiring at the approach of the strong federal forces.

The insurgent occupational force, that had been holding Durango since the early days of the revolution, fell back upon Parral.

Durango was an obstacle in the way of Gen. Calles' advance upon the rebel positions in the hills along the Coahuila-Durango border. Occupation of the city opens the way for a direct advance northward along the Durango-Torreon line of the Mexican National Railway.

Tightens Net About Escobar.

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 15.—With orders to kill or capture every opposing rebel, 25,000 federal troops tightened Secretary of War Calles' strategic net about General Jose Gonzalo Escobar's rebel forces on the Durango-Coahuila frontier today.

The most decisive battle of the revolution is now expected momentarily. Federal aviators who reconnoitered over the rebel defenses estimated the defending rebel forces at about 9,000 men.

A message from General Calles received here at 10 o'clock last night stated that the vanguard of his forces

ACCIDENT RULED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Edward Murphy, 19, Midland mill worker, whose automobile struck and killed Mrs. Ivy Little, 24, Island avenue, on the Midland-East Liverpool road March 3, was exonerated in a verdict rendered by Dr. Harry McCarter, Beaver Falls, yesterday.

Mrs. Little's death was due to injuries sustained in an "unavoidable accident," Dr. McCarter ruled. The woman, police said, stepped from behind a parked machine directly in front of Murphy's car.

The verdict was based upon evidence given by Corporal Williams, of the state police.

MAN IS NABBED ON RUM CHARGE

Jacob Decker, Dresden avenue, was arrested in East Sixth street by Captain of Police Conley at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Police said Decker was carrying seven half pints of whiskey.

He will be given a hearing before Judge Hanley at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

DRIVER HURT AS HIS AUTO UPSETS

A. M. Nohe, 54, Industry Heights, and proprietor of the City restaurant, Midland avenue, Midland, is in the Beaver Valley general hospital at New Brighton, Pa., today suffering from an injury to his back, as a result of his automobile overturning in the Sunflower road between Rochester and Zelienople.

Miss Helen Yochim.

Miss Helen Yochim, Lisbon, and Miss Iva McComas, Newell, seniors, will represent their schools in the Columbiana county and the Hancock county oratorical contests which will be held at Lisbon and New Cumberland tonight.

Miss Yochim, whose subject is "The Origins of the Constitution," is one of three students who will take part in the Lisbon contest, which is being held in the David Anderson high school. The other contestants are Miss Helen Williams, Salem, and Lloyd Lange, Salineville.

Three students, besides Miss McComas, will seek the county scholastic title in the New Cumberland contest in the Methodist Protestant church there. The others are Miss Sylvia Thomas, Weirton; Miss Jane Jester, New Cumberland, and Francis Hale, Chester. Miss McComas' subject is "The Citizen—His Privileges and Duties Under the Constitution."

Police and Fireman Pension Bills Voted

'OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE' UNDER BAN

COLUMBUS, O., March 15.—The "ole swimmin' hole" was the scene of much activity yesterday, but today it was abandoned. Police received a telephone call late yesterday afternoon that a group of small boys were makin' whoopee in the chilly waters of Scioto river. Police sent the boys home ,announcing at the same time that they would see that there was no more bathing in the river at this time of the year. This is the first swimming complain on record this year.

State Senate Adopts Plan Providing for Municipal Levy to Create Fund.

Police and firemen's pension bills, requiring that city councils fix a levy for the maintenance of both funds, passed the Ohio senate yesterday by a unanimous vote, C. E. Strickler, Columbus, secretary of the state police and firemen's organization, advised Fire Chief Thomas Bryan in a telegram today.

The bills have been sent to the house where they will be considered next week.

The proposals substitute the phrase "shall levy" instead of "may levy" in the pension fund measures which have been on the statute books for several years.

The police pension system was put into effect here December 1 when Patrolman Henry Aufderheide was furloughed. His pension is paid through a fund raised from benefit shows and entertainments.

Habitual Criminal Bill Passed.

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 15.—Concurring in senate amendments, the house today started the Cramer-Gillen habitual criminal bill on its way to the offices of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, passing it 89 to 1.

The Cramer-Gillen bill provides in

JOHN A. AGNER, AGED 84, DIES

John Adam Agner, 84, died last night in his home, 325 West Fourth street, after a short illness.

Mr. Agner, who was born in Butler, Pa., had lived here for 67 years. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Agner, and three daughters, Mrs. H. O. Schreiber, Hollidaysburg, Pa.; Mrs. H. H. Kraatz, Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs Frank Buxton, East Liverpool.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in St. John's Lutheran church, in charge of the Rev. J. G. Reinartz, D. D. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

TWO MEN HELD IN WIRE CHECKUP

Roy and Vaughn Wyatt, 22 and 21, respectively, brothers, were held by police today pending an investigation as to the ownership of 100 pounds of copper wire which was sold to Benjamin Wolk, Broadway junk dealer, last Saturday. Charges of being suspicious persons have been filed against them.

The Wyatt brothers were arrested by Patrolman Haley at the Wolk place yesterday when they attempted to sell a quantity of other junk.

Police said the men admitted the sale of the copper wire which they insisted they found in a dump. Fictitious names were given on the report which Wolk makes to police, according to Captain Conley. The men, who say they have no home, have been staying at a River road brick yards.

BRAMLEY RITES IN STRUTHERS

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Chapman Bramley, 64, wife of William Bramley, formerly of East Liverpool, were held Wednesday afternoon in her home in Struthers, in charge of the Rev. Paul E. Carson, pastor of the Struthers United Presbyterian church. Burial was made in the Poland cemetery.

Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Orr, Ashtabula, and four brothers, William Chapman, Cleveland; Ernest and Emilas Chapman, Atwater, and Clarence Chapman, Florida.

RETIRED MARION MERCHANT DIES

Swollen Rivers Sweep New England, South And Mid-west.

BLIZZARD RAGES

Mississippi Out of Its Banks; Thousands Homeless.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Mar. 15.—(INS)—Only 37 of the 4,000 marooned citizens of Elba, Ala., had been rescued at 8:30 a. m., according to a report received at the office of Governor Bibb Graves today.

Women and Children Saved.

The message, sent by the commander of the national guard company which reached the Elba vicinity in small boats, declared that the soldiers had taken 37 women and children to safety.

STORMS LASH WESTERN STATES

Floods are sweeping parts of New England, the south and the middle west. A blizzard is raging over parts of Wyoming and Nebraska.

Tremendous damage has been done by storm and flood. Thousands are homeless. The distress in some quarters is acute. It is feared there has been loss of life.

The Mississippi river is out of its banks in some places. The turbulent swollen stream is pounding the lower levees with flood-tide violence all the way from Quincy, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss.

Rivers are out of their banks in Vermont, New Hampshire and Connecticut.

Another detachment of troops sent to Elba last night by another route apparently had not been able to get near the stricken town. No word has been heard from them.

The message indicated that the job of rescuing the 4,000 fear-stricken citizens, surrounded by several miles of water 14 feet deep, will prove a slow and hazardous task, as only a small portion had been taken to safety since the troops began rescue operations during the night.

The refugees had to be taken by small boats for several miles before they could be left at an emergency camp on ground which was not inundated. Meanwhile the water at Elba was reported to be slowly rising.

19-FOOT CREST EXPECTED IN RIVER TONIGHT

Stream is Rising One Foot Every Four Hours.

17.6 AT NOON

Jones & Laughlin Ships Seventy-fifth Tow To South.

A crest of 19 feet is expected here at midnight in third rise in the Ohio river within three weeks. With the rate of rise one foot every four hours, a stage of 17.6 feet was reached at Dam No. 8 at noon.

The Allegheny and Monongahela rivers are also rising.

The steamer Liberty will arrive here tonight from Wheeling, W. Va., after being delayed a day because of fog.

The cruiser passed here yesterday with six barges of coal, bound for Weirton, Va. The Old Reliable, with 850 tons of oil in one barge, and the LaBelle, with seven empty barges, passed here yesterday afternoon, enroute to Pittsburgh. The J. A. Douglass passed here last night for Cincinnati, with the one tender barge in tow.

Steel Tow on Way South.

The seventy-fifth tow of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation left their Aliquippa works, Ohio river, yesterday for points south on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers. This is the second tow of that concern to leave the Pittsburgh harbor, since the corporation established a policy of sending out two tows each month, instead of the usual one tow movement.

The tow consisted of 10 modern J. & L. barges, three of them of the cargo box type, loaded with various products for reshipments by rail to points in the South and Southwest. The tow is in charge of the steamer C. W. Talbot, the second new steamer of the Union Barge Line corporation.

Colonel Jarvis J. Bain, Pittsburgh district engineer granted a Federal permit to the American Bridge company to construct false work in the Ohio river and to erect the super structure of a bridge between Monaca and Rochester.

Goes Over Falls.

The steamer City of Pittsburgh, of the Carnegie Line of steamers, successfully navigated the falls in the Ohio river at Louisville yesterday with her big tow of steel products for New Orleans. The steamer is in charge of Captain Cavin Blazier

The steamer Monongahela of the same line passed Greenville on her way from New Orleans to Pittsburgh with Captain John A. Hottell in charge. The boat is making excellent time coming up stream although the Mississippi is on a rampage.

Captain M. G. Martling, corps of engineers, United States army, military assistant in the Cincinnati office, was in Pittsburgh this week. Accompanied by Captain H. W. Hill, he inspected work on the Monongahela river, also at the Deadmans dam and Locks No. 6 and 7, Allegheny river. Robert C. Arras, secretary to Captain R. C. McCullough, superintendent of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers, started on an extensive furlough yesterday.

Wellsville's Mayor To Leave Hospital

W. L. Fogo, Patient for 10 Weeks as Result of Fractured Leg, Expects to Return Home Saturday Night.

WELLSVILLE, O., March 15.—Mayor W. L. Fogo, who has been a patient in the East Liverpool hospital for 10 weeks as a result of injuries suffered while aiding local fire fighters in East Liverpool January 7, expects to go home tomorrow night.

Fogo's right leg was fractured just above the knee when he tripped over a fire hose while the Wellsville department was aiding East Liverpool firemen in their battle with the blaze which destroyed the Buckeye Lumber company plant and damaged surrounding buildings.

Whether he will be able to get around with the use of crutches is questionable, at least for a few days. The executive, however, expects to attend the council meeting next Tuesday night.

For the last several days he has been using a wheel chair in the hospital corridor.

When he relieves Acting Mayor Clyde Baker of his duties, one of his first acts will be the formal appointment of Charles Hanlon as chief of the fire department to succeed A. W. Phillips, resigned.

Fogo announced Hanlon's appointment as chief while both he and Hanlon were confined to beds in the hospital, Hanlon entering the institution as a result of a revolver wound in his leg, inflicted accidentally.

Tragic Speed Tests

As a result of the attempt to break the international speed record of 231 miles an hour, established by Major Segrave, an Englishman, two Americans are dead.

Lee Bible, 42-year-old Daytona Beach garage mechanic, who, according to Ray Keech, former holder of the world's automobile speed mark, "never had a chance," was one of the victims. The other was a news reel photographer whose body was severed and hurtled 500 feet in the air when struck by the racer while traveling at a rate of 202 miles an hour.

The two fatalities, a tragic climax to what appears to be a foolish performance, occurred when the machine got beyond the control of the driver and crashed into a sand dune. And 20,000 spectators looked on as death won the race.

Too late, the speed trials have been called off. The fatal results of the test, in which, according to the record holder, a driver has just one chance in ten of coming out alive, probably will do more than anything else to put a stop to it.

However, if the people are so inclined they can discourage the taking of such risks. Their willingness to attend such events and applaud recklessness is responsible for men taking their lives into their own hands.

Crime Never Pays

Liston G. Schooley and his son, Gresham Schooley, have been sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary by Judge Samuel E. Kramer in Cleveland for complicity in land graft. An energetic and honest county prosecutor, Ray T. Miller, supported with determination by bench and public, has been cleaning house in Cuyahoga county. The Schooleys have felt the lash of law, as Councilman Tom Fleming felt it when he was sentenced recently.

It is a rare thing, indeed, to read of a father allowing, much less influencing, his son to participate in dishonorable graft. He is impelled by the parental instinct of protection to keep the son aloof from danger, if for no other reason. But in this case, the senior Schooley seems to have had no compunction about including his offspring in the shady land transaction which they confessed.

Judge Kramer, in denying leniency, aside from punishing the senior Schooley by his sentence, administered an additional verbal blow.

"The ruin you have made of your lives, completed today by the sentence here pronounced, is a punishment so devastating that any words either of regret or denunciation have no meaning to you," said he. "And this ruin stands out so vividly in the glare of publicity as a warning and deterrent to others that now to point to it would be a mere idle gesture. The offense is a grave one. It involves the taking of a large sum of money. More than that, it constitutes a breach of trust by an elected public officer of the city of Cleveland, an offense serious enough in itself and aggravated by its effect upon the public mind of confirming apparently its all too ready suspicion of its public offenders.

"In the case of Schooley, sr., there is the further aggravated fact that you engaged your son in carrying out your illegal acts, enmeshed or permitted him to become enmeshed in this crime."

This looked easy for the Schooleys. The cards were stacked against the taxpayers of Cleveland. The machinery of graft from public funds was well oiled, through politicians and councilmen. But something snapped. An election occurred and a courageous prosecutor, new to the office, lifted the lid on sordid machinations which have found the Schooleys among the early victims.

Two lives are confronted with destruction as the result of inordinate greed.

Contrary to participation in crime it would have been the natural instinct of the parent to keep his son out of the mess; likewise, it should have been the natural instinct of the son, a young lawyer, to have guarded his father against the pitfalls of graft, penalty for which he must have known through legal training.

Crime never pays!

Big Business

Big business is now owned by the people themselves and has not justified the popular fear that predatory capitalists would prey on the public, says Owen D. Young, one of the foremost industrialists and financial experts of the country.

Mr. Young's views are set forth in the Review of Reviews, concurrent with his acceptance in Paris of the post of chairman of the greatest financial conference the world has ever know—the international effort to restore world gold balances by settling the war reparations problem.

Mr. Young likens the growth of big business to the development of the automobile. At first a menace to traffic, regarded with suspicion by pedestrian and horse-diver, apt to be abused by novices captivated by the new power under their control, it gradually grew to an essential medium of progress, sanely regulated by troffic laws and a blessing instead of a course.

Similarly, Mr. Young points out, big business has passed its experimental stage and deveoped to the point where its operation is a public institution, as sanely regulated as traffic. The modern great corporation, he says, is owned by thousands of stockholders and run, not only in their interests but in the practical, common?sense interest of keeping the corporation prosperous by meeting its obligation to capital, labor and consumer alike.

It is a far cry from the one-man business, owned and operated in the interests of the one man, to the modern corporation, owned by thousands and operated by business experts. Where it might have been possible for a small merchant to use unethical methods and profit thereby, Mr. Young argues, great organiations must exist on the simple grounds of expediency, if no other. You can buy anything under great trade-marks, he illustrated, without examining the package and you know you will find quantity, quality and price right.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 15.—Copper was one of the very early metals mined. The men of the bronze age required this malleable substance in the making of their weapons and utensils. There are records of copper-mining extending back 800 years before Christ. These records have been studied by B. F. Hewett, geologist of the United States Geological survey, in connection with an investigation to determine what modern American miners can learn from the more experienced delvers into the earth of the older countries.

The Phoenicians in mining tin in Carnwall found copper in conjunction therewith. The records of those early times are not records at all in the sense of statements of quantities and values of ore extracted but fairly good records are available from about 1150. In the time of Elizabeth there was greatly increased activity in mining. In that Golden Age England became more of a trading nation and, therefore, more of a manufacturing nation and found increased use for metals.

Copper was mined in the Mansfield district in Germany at an early date and there are records of workings as far back as 1209. In the last 250 years the increase in production at Mansfield has been prodigious. The pre-war year 1913 now stands as the peak but Hewett believes that production will go forward anew to a still higher peak of production.

Sweden has produced copper for 1500 years, the records indicating a peak of production about the year 1650 when the Falun district was Europe's principal source of copper. Norway also has deposits of considerable antiquity.

The Rio Tinto and Tharsis districts in Spain were worked for copper 800 years before Christ. The mines were especially active during the Roman rule but declined in the middle ages. Only from 1825 have the Spanish mines revived to any considerable extent. In the decade 1880-90 the Spanish copper production had attained a volume which was twice that of all the rest of Europe put together and equaled one-fourth of all the copper produced in the world. While 1912 is revealed as the peak year of production, the reserves are extensive and it is predicted that a new high level will be reached in the future.

Lead appears to have been first mined accidentally. That is—it was found by miners working for silver. The two metals frequently are found in conjunction. England has been curiously fortunate in the matter of metals. Rich in copper, iron, and tin, her lead deposits also were productive. For the long period from 1700 to 1850 England was the source of half of the lead output of the whole world. Northumberland and Durham were the principal lead districts, furnishing half of the English output. There were eight lead districts in all. The peak was passed in 1856 and deposits are rapidly dwindling.

Germany, too, is rich in lead, the deposits being in Rhenish Prussia in the Eiffel and Harz districts. Upper Silesia is a source of lead. This former German province, as the result of a plebiscite provided by the Treaty of Versailles, now is a part of Poland. The large Harz production reached a peak in 1914, as the war intervened, it is possible a new high mark will be achieved.

The study conducted by Hewett related only to European mines. Of course all of these metals are found in other parts of the world, especially in America. Lead, however, appears to be running low all over the world. This curious metal has been in great demand because of its many uses, its unique qualities. It is among the most durable of substances and yet completely malleable. With his bare hands, for instance, a plumber can twist and turn and shape a lead pipe in any fashion he desires. The consumption of lead for paints is tremendous. For centuries lead was used as a lining for coffins because of its imperviousness but the shortening supply, bringing increased prices, has resulted in an almost complete substitution of other metals for this use. There is constant prospecting to find new sources but very little has been added in recent years.

Questions And Answers

This is a special department devoted solely to the handling of queries. This paper puts at your disposal the services of an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. This service is free. Failure to make use of it deprives you of benefits to which you are entitled. Your obligation is only two cents in coin or stamps enclosed with your inquiry for direct reply. Address the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. What are the tallest buildings now under construction? F. H.

A. The new Chicago Tower and Apparel Mart which is now under construction will be 850 feet high, and will have 75 stories. New York City has just started the Chrysler Building which will be 808 feet high and have 65 stories. These will be the two highest buildings constructed or under construction.

Q. What is a three place plane? R. L. J.

A. It is an airplane with capacity for carrying three passengers.

Q. Who originated manual training in the schools? F. H.

A. The history of manual training in the United States involves both the development of the idea and the development of practice. In the field of practice, little of a purely educational character appeared before 1878, at which time the Workingman's School was founded by the Ethical Culture Society of New York. This institution comprised a kindergarten and an elementary school, in which manual work formed from the first a vital and important part of the educational scheme. The general movement, however, took its large beginning, as has been the case with so many educational movements, at the top instead of the bottom of the school system. In 1880, through the efforts of Dr. Calvin A. Woodward, the St. Louis Manual Training School was opened in connection with Washington university. The work of this school attracted wide attention, and its success led to the speedy organization of similar schools in other large cities.

Q. What does the name Savannah mean? L. B.

A. It is derived from the Spanish word savanne, meaning grassy plain.

Q. How far south can the North Star be seen? G. L.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Thoughts while strolling: Book shop for children only. With expert readers. Manicure parlor called: "Salon of Hand Culture." Gustave Tott of the Atlantic City Ritz. Whatever became of the apple pandowdy? Girls who try to look dreamy and merely look full of hop.

Irene Bordoni certainly resembles those vampish ladies in the illustrated French papers. The orchestra musicians you know are named Max or Gus. Sign: "Strive to be masterful." Yeah, and get socked in the eye. Who remembers when only men went out between acts to smoke? Clarabelle Walsh and her mother.

Oscar Eagle, the stage director, a Gallipolis, O., boy, who made good in the city. I wouldn't hire one of those fat butlers. I couldn't keep from worrying how much he eats. The foolish look of Central Park riders whose horses stop while they go on. John and Cristo, the Broadway caterers.

Nearly everybody likes country sausage. But how difficult to get it. The dumb Marx brother with the dead pan. And the most talented of all. The sedate dignity of a silverware store. Walter Bronson Dudley. That's Bide's real name. Window card: "Wanted—tall blondes for clerks in candy store."

Madam Frances, the dress maker. And her husband, Nate Epingold. Claudette Colbert's trim ankles. Sign over stage entrance: "The most beautiful girls in the world pass through these portals." Charles Mitchell, the banker. Little rich children dressed in the uniform of the Royal Northwest Mounted.

Dance hal lannounces: "One hundred and fifty agreeable hostesses." Charles Hackett, the Metropolitan tenor. And an American. Coy girls in severe black gowns and ropes of imitation pearls. Broadway doesn't seem the same without Walter Kingsley. Whatever became—and I don't care that!—of swagger sticks?

Women in riding habits who lunch alone at table windows. And flappers who use lorgnettes. A German restaurant with a fat fraulein yodeling: "Go to Sleep, My Bay-ha-bee!" And those dim lit cafes that suggest hand holding and whispered soft nothings. The polite red-haired girl at the Algonquin newstand.

Almost every year they give a dinner for Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach, and it is one dinner that bars evening dress. Mr. Rockne's manner is hard boiled and he does not care to step out of character even at a dinner in his honor.

There is a lady novelist, too, who insists upon wearing informal dress at formal dinners. Her excuse is she lives alone and has no one to powder her back. Line forms to the right and no pushin', you big ape.

The other day I saw a stalwart plain clothes man attached to police headquarters. It seems only a few years ago since he scurried to my cry of "copy" in a newspaper shop. There are times when I do not feel so old—that is when you consider the Rocky Mountains—but such episodes inspire a few extra sly peeks in the mirror.

A character on Tenth Avenue is a hatless, shoeless and bewhiskered old fellow with hair falling around his shoulders. He seems oblivious of the attention he creates. A shop keeper along the street tells me he is a religious zealot who believes all ills are due to wearing hats and shoes and it was further declared that he came to the street some ten years ago in a wheel chair. Today he is walking and apparently enjoying good health.

On Houston street is a spaghetti salon conducted by one of those shaggy-haired baritones who once bellowed and heaved a mean chest in second rate opera. His hands are covered with gaudy rings and his clothes would rate high at a convention of tin-horn gamblers. Yet it is whispered a certain lady of remarkable talents and great fame, who is a frequent patron of the place, is ga-ga about him. True or not, such gossip is one of the things that slows up New Yorkers in their yawning.

A style shark says the vogue for full evening suits for men is only temperary. We had an idea the boys would tire of unknown finger snappers ordering them to serve the coffee later. The double breasted dinner coat was popular chiefly because it distinguished a guest from a waiter.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

A great many diseases are more serious in their complications than they are in their direct effects. For instance, influenza is a much dreaded ailment. As a matter of fact, however, nobody dies from influenza. Its complications are what we most dread. This is praticularly true of pneumonia.

The germs of influenza set up a violent inflammation in the breathing organs. The tissues become inflamed and their powers of resistance to other germs are weakened. Along come the germs of pneumonia. They find just exactly the soil upon which they thrive. Then there is serious trouble.

Some diseases, then, prepare the way for other diseases. Some diseases extend rather widely their fields of operation. Instead of "staying put," they reach out, gradually spreading to neighboring parts and creating trouble wherever they go. In short, they do not limit their evil effects to one single part of the body.

What we speak of as "relapses" are sometimes signals of new involvements of other portions of the body. For instance, to speak again of influenza, it may leave the lungs untouched but choose to attack the ears.

Leading from the back part of the nose, the space between the nose and upper part of the throat, are two passageways called the eustachian tubes. They are lined with mucous membrane identical with the lining membranes of the nose. Each tube opens into the ear on the side of the head.

In its turn, the middle ear is lined with mucous membrane. In short, the same kind of tissue that covers the walls of the nose and eustachian tubes is found in the ear.

You know how difficult it is to keep strawberry plants in rows or hills. The tendrills and roots will spread into the paths between the rows or to the spaces between the hills. If left alone, it won's be long before the whole area is a solid mass of strawberry plants.

In similar fashion the inflammation in the nose extends its effects into the mouth of one of these tubes, presses on through, and pretty soon the middle ear is inflammed. The inflammation causes the walls of the canal to swell, and there may be so much swelling that the tube is obstructed.

You know what a mean feeling that gives you. The ear is "stopped up" and the hearing is reduced for the time. But this effect is more serious than the production of temporary deafness. It may cause a damming up of the fluids within the ear.

One of the functions of the eustachian tube is to "ventilate" the ear. That is, it permits the entrance of air so that the atmosphere pressure is the same on the inner side of the ear drum as it is on the outside, where air reaches it through the outside ear canal. But that isn't all it does.

The eustachian tube is a drainage canal. It permits any fluid that may form in the ear to flow into the nose. If there is inflammation and swelling of the lining of this passageway so that fluid cannot pass, the drainage is stopped.

In all acute inflammations of the mucous membrane there is an increase in its natural secretions. You know how your nose runs if you have a cold or the influenza. There may be a perfect stream of this fluid at first and later thick mucous.

You don't have to be a doctor to realize what an extension of influenza or any infection of the nose may do to your ears. There may be an accumulation of fluid in the ear, dammed back by the closed eustachian tube, and then what happens?

First, there is severe earache. This is caused by the congestion and the increasing pressure from the retained fluid. Then as the fluid gathers, it causes the drum to bulge outward, and unless the inflammation is controlled there is a rupture of the drum and you have a "running ear."

This possibility is another reason why nasal infections, whether from acute colds or the influenza, should be given prompt attention.

Other Editors Say

Thomas Taggart.

Thomas Taggart, "Tom," was a prominent figure in a fading tradition. He was of the school of a political habit of thought and practices now well nigh vanished. But up to the day of his death he remained something of a factor in the political activities of his state and nation, so far, at least, as those activities were identified with Democratic party organization, leadership and policy.

Indeed, the name of this veteran of numerous political campaigns and national conventions, perhaps, was better known to the public at large throughout the country than were many of those who have occupied high place in the councils of his party and who could make greater pretention to the eruditions of scholarship and the qualifications of statesmanship.

Taggart, like many another man who has won success and distinction in America, came "up from the bottom." He possessed the persistency, the constantcy and the courage of his Irish heritage. Though born poor, in Ireland, he won the favor of material fortune and high place in the councils of his party. He sat, by appointment, in the senate of the United States. But he will perhaps be better remembered as the creator and owner of the health and pleasure resort, which became famous as the scene of many a major political assembly of the leaders of the Democratic party.

Mr. Taggart was the friend of presidents, and many who aspired to become president. It was his fortune to remain to the day of his death, 72, one of the rugged leaders of the organization founded by the aristocrat, Jefferson, who was, at the same time, the greatest of Democrats. — Cincinnati Enquirer.

Once Overs

By J. J. Mundy.

Good Oratory Requires Preparation.

You have probably listened to addresses made by men who talked so easily that you were convinced that they were "born orators."

You think of the times you have made talks and the effort it required.

In the first place you will not give the study and practice which are necessary to prepare and deliver, a good talk.

You feel it would be folly for you to spend time in that way.

You might be surprised if you knew how many hours of thought and study and really hard work has to be done by every man who is a good public speaker.

Of course, there are a few unusual cases, but the road is not easy for most men who have ambitions along this line.

You may be so constituted and handicapped that it would be practically impossible for you to be a speaker of more than ordinary ability.

But probably the greatest drawback for you is your unwillingness to do the work required to stand high as a speaker.

You know that you are not well prepared, not thoroughly familiar with your subject, and you are self-conscious, so you cannot expect to gain popularity or find it easy to talk in public till you conquer these three essentials.

You want the glory but you are unwilling to do the work necessary to gain it.

PILOTS RUN CLOSE RACE FOR RECORD

CHICAGO.—Two pilots now at the controls of twelve-passenger planes, on widely separated routes, are rivals for the world's record for the most time spent in the air during 1928, according to the American Air Transport association.

The contestants for this honor are Chadwick Smith, chief pilot on the non-stop passenger run of the Northwest Airways between the Twin Cities and Chicago, and Fred Kelly, who pilots a multi-motored passenger plane for the Western Air Express between San Francisco and Los Angeles. Neither pilot has had an accident.

BEAUTY'S SECRET IS IN HEALTH

Every woman is entitled to two of the greatest elements of beauty—an attractive form and a good complexion. Scrawniness is never beautiful, however well hidden it may be. Nor is a sallow, colorless skin. Yet how many women go through life mortified by either or both of these defects!

Some consolation may be found in the fact that scrawny, sallow people are not well. If they were, Nature would provide the soft curves of a good form and the clear attractive texture of a good complexion.

What to Do for Beauty

These are absent because the bodily processes of digestion and elimination are not working right. No matter what the reason may be, World's Tonic will help on the way to be beautiful. This wonderful medicine will clear up the blood, relieve clogging of the bowels and skin, and purify the complexion as well as tone up the digestion, so that normal weight may be regained. Thousands have been wonderfully benefited by its use.

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's, also Brannan's at Wellsville, and all other good druggists.—Adv. (221).

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a young girl in my teens and have been going with a fellow for about five months. This boy has my ring. About a month ago he started going with another girl. Now they have broken up, but still he will not return my ring
I wish very much to get it back as I want to forget him.
BRUNETTE.

BRUNETTE:
If you really want the ring returned, why not ask your brother or your mother or father to request the young man to return it? And once you get it back, keep it.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my teens and I have been keeping company with several boys, for osme time. Do you consider this improper?
Is there any harm in writing to those different young men?
KITTY.

KITTY:
Not at all, improper, my dear, provided, of course, that your parents approve. As to writing to the young men, I think it would be wiser not to do too much of that, for it might lead to a silly sentimental correspondence for which you would some day be sorry.

FIRE SWEEPS OHIO SCHOOL

Two Men Hurt in Fighting Blaze at Delaware.

DELAWARE, O., March 15.—With two firemen suffering from severe burns, and loss estimates mounting to $100,000, authorities here today were seeking the origin of the blaze that last night swept the three-story building of Delaware high school here and destroyed half the building.

Chief Clive Dall and Fireman Arthur Reese were hurt when a portion of a roof collapsed on them. They were stunned but managed to rise to their feet and stagger to safety.

Greater loss was prevented by a fire-wall, built about 1910, which checked the spread of the conflagration.

The blaze is said to have started in the auditorium or chapel.

The loss was said to have been partly covered by insurance. Housing of the classes was the most serious problem that confronted the school board. There will be no school today. A vacant hospital nearby, it is said, may be turned into an emergency school house.

Calles Traps Rebels

in central Mexico were within four and a half miles of the city of Durango and that an attack was imminent.

Rebels Retreating.

The federal forces outside the city are estimated at about 6,000 men. Another federal force of 5,000 men led by Gen. Lazaro Cardenas is reported to be less than 30 miles south of the Torreon front.

The rebels also must defend themselves against a powerful offensive from the east. General Juan Andreu Almazan's force of 6,000 combined with General Saturnino Cedillo's 4,500 men at Viesca, 40 miles east of the rebel concentration and are launching their drive from there.

The federal forces contain powerful artillery and cavalry units. Airplanes will be used for bombing. Should a siege result, the government is prepared.

According to reports from the federal commander at Mazatlan, Sinaloa, General Roberto Cruz's rebel force of 5,000 is now rapidly retreating northward.

Portes Gil Confident.

President Portes Gil continues confident that the collapse of the revolution is only a matter of a week or two. Disaffection is reported among rebel troops in Sonora. Federal airplanes are being used to drop leaflets over the rebel concentrations, asking the rebels to lay down their arms because they are fighting a hopeless cause.

In the event that the rebels retreat before the federal onslaught upon the Torreon front, it is believed in government circles that they will make another stand at Chihuahua City or as far north as Juarez.

FIRES TWO SHOTS TO KILL SELF

WILMINGTON, O., Mar. 15.—One bullet which passed through his body having failed to cause his death, S. C. Whitcraft pulled the trigger of his revolver the second time, causing instant death.

Whitcraft, a 50-year-old farmer, drove 10 miles in order to buy the gun which ended his life yesterday.

The farmer had suffered crop losses and was financially worried.

supplies were being taken up to rush into the stricken area.

Coffee county seems to be the worst hit. There, the litle town of Elba is half submerged by overflow from the Pea river and Whitewater creek.

Thousands of other inhabitants of a dozen towns in the southeastern part of the state were abandoning their homes early today.

Torrential rains amounting to from four to seven inches which fell during the last 36 hours covered the southern part of the state with the worst flood in 20 years.

Illinois Factories Flooded.

CHICAGO, March 15.—Streets in Freeport, Ill., were under two feet of water, Rockford, Ill., reported a dozen factories shut down or operating under difficulties because of flooded power plants, and a score of smaller towns were threatened with inundation as the Wisconsin thaws swept down upon northern Illinois today.

In Freeport, according to reports from Chief of Police A. H. Wilkey, the water reached teh previous high mark recorded during the floods of 1916.

Further west, the Mississippi river was reported out of its banks in places and lapping the tops of levees all the way from Quincy, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss.

Thousands of acres in Iowa were reported under water, with roads impassable in many sections.

At Keokuk, the Des Moines river was up two feet and was standing at a 12-foot stage, while at Quincey the Mississippi was said to have risen four feet within the past 24 hours.

Water Inundates Town.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 15.—(INS)—An indefinite number of the population of the flood stricken town of Elba have been rescued by boat, and taken to an emergency camp beyond reach of the swirling flood waters, it was learned here today.

A fragmentary message to the office of Governor Bibb Graves this morning from the commanding officer of a contingent of National Guardsmen at Elba said that a "part of the people" had been taken away to safety in small boats.

It was stated at the governor's office that it was not known whether another unit of guardsmen, despatched to the stricken Coffee county seat by another route, had reached there.

In the meagre message received by the governor's office it was declared that the water was from "ten to fifteen feet" through the town of 4,000 inhabitants. Those who had not been rescued were huddled in the top stories of the largest of the buildings in town, it was reported.

It could not be learned whether any persons had been drowned when the town suddenly became deluged by an overflow from the Pea river and White Water creek.

Town Cut Off.

The town was cut off from commercial lanes of communication and virtually all telegraph and telephone lines west of Montgomery were down.

It was stated that the National Guard contingent that reached Elba traveled the last six miles of the long journey in rowboats. Work of rescuing the marooned residents will be a slow task.

Emergency supplies of food and medicine were rushed from here this morning. It was regarded as problematical whether the carriers who set out early in the day could reach the scene of disaster due to the rise of the waters and the gaping washout.

Meanwhile various other places in this section of the state were inundated, but the situation was not near so serious as at Elba.

Volunteers pushed every effort to reach Enterprise, Ala., where danger also threatens.

M. Duboc and wife recently pedalled a tricycle from Paris to Berlin and return.

Flay Clapsaddle

Flay Clapsaddle has been city engineer since April, 1926 when he was appointed by Mayor Ralph Benedum to succeed the late John George.

Clapsaddle, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cook Clapsaddle, was born near West Mansfield, Logan county, Ohio, Oct. 29, 1890. After graduating from the East Liberty high school in 1908, he entered Ohio Northern university at Ada, for a course in civil engineering. Three years later he left the university to enter the government reclamation service near Fort Shaw, Montana. He returned to school in 1913 to complete his course in engineering.

In 1914 Clapsaddle returned to Montana where he was employed at Glacier National Park for two years. He came to East Liverpool in 1916. With the exception of one year in 1918, when he was employed by the Sharon Steel Hoop company, of Struthers, he has lived here since then.

Clapsaddle is a Republican and a member of the Knights of Pythias, Knights of Malta, the Lions' club and the First Church of Christ.

He is married and the father of two boys and a girl. He lives at 1319 Smithfield street.

PATROLMAN AND ALLEGED BANDIT TRADE GUNS, BAT ENDS BATTLE

CLEVELAND, Mar. 15.—A Cleveland patrolman and an alleged bandit traded weapons late yesterday afternoon. The trade was involuntary on both sides and occurred during a struggle which ensued when the patrolman grappled with the fugitive.

Immediately after the exchange the alleged stickup man pumped six bullets from the policeman's pistol at the officer, none of them taking effect.

At this juncture the policeman decided it was time to do some shooting himself. Accordingly he took careful aim at the supposed stickup artist, with the latter's pistol, and pulled the trigger.

Out popped a cigarette.

No particular damage had been done on either side when an accommodating truckman appeared on the scene, reached under the seat of his machine, produced a baseball bat and casually rapped the accused robber on the head, ending all hostilities.

Robert Moore, 19, was in a cell today facing a robbery charge for allegedly holding up a chain store with his toy pistol.

Meanwhile Patrolman Peter Vargo is to grace the carpet in Police Chief Jacob Graul's office some time today and explain just how Moore managed to take his revolver away from him.

Arnold Case Near End

unknown. Authorities believe that he is dead.

Arnold admitted that when he was in the county jail last April he threatened he would "get even" with Marshal Roy Horst.

Special Prosecutor Mougey elicited from the witness the information he did not know that Raymond Horst is married and has a family.

The state's contention is the Arnolds stole Melvin, thinking he was the marshal's son.

Suspected "Planted" Evidence.

Arnold testified he wanted his wife —"Mom"—to "burn all the caps in the house" because he thought a cap would be "planted" as corroborative evidence. Mike Mellich, county jail prisoner, testified he head the elder Arnold whisper to his son to tell "Mom" when she next visited the jail to destroy all their caps and, if questioned, to say he wore a hat on the night Melvin disappeared.

"You didn't know Junior Hanna was watching when you took the boy in the house, did you?" Mougey asked the elder defendant.

"It never happened," Arnold replied.

"You didn't know Junior was watching when Arthur carried the boy to the car, did you?" continued the prosecutor.

"It never happened," was the reiterated answer.

Alibi Is Set Up.

Supporting this was the statement of William Arnold, a son, who testified he had been with his father from 3:00 to 4:45 p. m. on the day of the kidnaping. (The kidnaping of Melvin is said to have been taken place between 5 and 6 o'clock).

Denial of Elias Arnold from the witness stand that he had any connection with the case.

Testimony of the son, Arthur, supporting his father's statement, that he had been at home when the abduction took place.

Allen Murray, Orrville school janitor, testified he saw a little boy answering Melvin's description start away from the Horst home, at about 5:30 o'clock on the night of the disappearance.

Highlights of Testimony.

WOOSTER, O., Mar. 15—(INS)—Highlights of the testimony offered in the trial of Elias and Arthur Arnold, father and son, charged with the kidnaping of four-year-old Melvin Horst, Orrville, follow:

For the state—

Testimony of Junior Hanna, 9, Melvin's playmate, that he saw Elias and Arthur carry the Horst lad from the Arnold home to an automobile and then drive away on the night of December 27.

Statements of Orrville officers from the witness stand that Elias Arnold had threatened to "get even" with the boy's uncle, Marshal Roy Horst, for his many arrests on sundry charges.

Evidence that Elias believed Melvin Horst was the son of Roy Horst, the village marshal.

The declaration by Mike Mellich, prisoner in the Wayne county jail at the time of the Arnold's confinement, that Elias told his son what to say when called to the witness stand.

Exhibition of an orange, that had been preserved in cold storage, and that was alleged to have been given to Melvin to induce him into the Arnold home.

For the defense:—

The testimony by Mrs. Elias Arnold, the accused man's wife, that Elias had been at home from 7 o'clock on the night of December 27 until about 11 o'clock.

SENTENCE NEAR END, QUITS JAIL

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 15.—George Thompson, Canton, walked away from the county jail here today where he was serving a 30-day sentence for defrauding an inn-keeper. The man's term would have been up Monday, but apparently he couldn't wait for his time to expire. Thompson was a "trusty." He is 38 years of age.

The club and Mellinger were invited to make a return visit.

ORRVILLE BANKER IS INDICTED

CLEVELAND, Mar. 15.—An indictment with five counts, charging embezzlement and false entry, today stood against Frank L. Strauss, 53, former vice-president and cashier of the Orrville National bank, of Orrville, Ohio.

Strauss is alleged to have juggled the bank's accounts for 14 years in order to obtain funds to play the stock market. He is accused of using approximately $100,000 of the bank's money for his own purposes. All of the funds were later replaced.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney D. C. Van Buren pointed out that no loss was suffered by the bank or its depositors or stockholders since all of the funds were returned by Strauss and his relatives in Orrville. Despite the fact that complete restitution has been made the federal grand jury returned the indictment against Strauss late yesterday.

Mr. Candler carried detail to the grave, giving minute directions as to his funeral rites, including the wording of an announcement for newspapers and describing clothes that he was to wear in the coffin, a "dress suit," a good idea, if, indeed, we rise "in the flesh."

Mr. Candler set an example to his fellow citizens in liberality. He died in a hospital which he provided for the public at a cost of $1,500,000.

THAT somebody is making money may comfort you, if you art not making money.

The Michigan Central Railroad, for instance, on March 28 will pay to stockholders a cash dividend of 100 per cent, which certainly is fair enough. Most of it goes to the New York Central Railroad, in control of Michigan Central.

AND there is the Union Carbide company, declaring a stock dividend of 400 per cent.

Wall street was cheerful yesterday, no wonder. And call money cost only 6 per cent. Just think of that.

MRS. BLANCHE WHIFFEN, "Virginia's grand old lady of the stage," was eighty-four years old Wednesday, well and happy, telling young people how frightened she was on the stage sixty-seven years ago.

GOOD actresses, like Ellen Terry, Sarah Bernhardt and innumerable others, when they take care of their health, live to be old. Their brains remain active, and human beings, like trees, die at the top.

CONSIDER Mme. Lavergne, of Dijon, France, who celebrated her one hundred and sixth birthday Wednesday. She has never called a doctor since, at the age of twelve, a wagon ran over her. Mme. Lavergne has lived in France under three kings, two republics and one empire, and wouldn't live anywhere else. She can't read well, but thinks that being a good listener is better.

IN Southwest Africa a giant meteor, recently fallen, is said by scientists to be the world's largest. It weighs more than fifty tons.

Thousands of meteors bombard the earth every year, big enough to destroy any building. But a majority are melted by friction of the air, and fall in harmless dust.

SOME, it is believed, bring with them germs of life from outside space. Intense cold does not kill primitive life, although heat does kill it Scientists agree that all life on this planet may have started from microscopic life germs brought by meteors and developed by evolution. You need not believe it.

Pension Bills Voted

creased punishment for habitual criminals.

By a vote of 32 to 57, the house rejected senate amendments to the Laybourne bill, granting state aid to county farm clubs and otherwise aiding agricultural extension work. House members took particular exception to a senate amendment which increased from $1,500 to $3,000 the compensation which a county board of commissioners, by two affirmative votes, could give county farm agents. With the state paying half of the salary of such an agent, it was pointed out, such compensation might be as high as $6,000 a year. A number of house members felt that many rural counties could not afford to pay such high salaries.

Before recessing until 7 p. m. Monday, the house passed the Morgan bill, providing that county commissioners may contract for care of federal prisoners in county jails; the Schuessler bill, taking employes of the Cincinnati municipal court out of the civil service classified list and the Wilson bill, permitting the penalizing of workhouse prisoners, committed in default of fines, who escape.

SNOOK TO QUIT AS PRISON CHIEF

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—The resignation of John Snook, of Idaho, as warden of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, will be accepted it was indicated today at the department of justice.

The intervention of Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, in behalf of Snook apparently has failed to comprise the feud between Snook and Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general, over the use of "under cover" agents as spies inside the Atlanta prison. The department, it was said, will back up Mrs. Willebrandt in the controversy.

A representative of the department told International News Service that the use of "under cover" agents in federal penitentiaries was a "departmental policy" and that Mrs. Willebrandt was merely carrying it out when she sent a "spy" to the Atlanta penitentiary. The agent was discovered by Gaston B. Means, former government detective, who was serving a term in the prison.

"Button Up Your Overcoat"

This week's Victor record release contains four of the big song-hits from the Broadway success, Follow Thru. You'll like Button Up Your Overcoat particularly well. Waring's Pennsylvanians turn the melody into a rollicking fox-trot. There's a catchy vocal chorus, telling about the girl who wanted the Boy-Friend to button up his overcoat and take care of himself, because he belonged to her. Come in and hear all of these new hits soon!

Springtime is Dress-up Time

This Store is Ready with all the New Styles Moderately Priced

THE home and the family, like all nature, in the springtime take on new dress. The dullness and monotony of the chill winter time gives way to the livelier and cheering aspect of newness—everywhere, the world over.

To not keep step with this transition is to be out of harmony with all, and to miss the zest of life.

And to be able to have as much as possible of new fittings for the home and fashions for the family, one must buy with care and buy where the most can be had for the money.

This great chain of economy stores is founded upon that principle — "THE MOST FOR THE MONEY ALWAYS."

Good For Children Who Are Pale, Puny

Mother and Dad—have you a pale, skinny, rundown child in your family? No, you can't say the youngster is seriously sick, but somehow he never seems to have the strength and energy to play like other kids, he seldom eats a hearty meal, just "picks" at his food. He's way behind in his school work—often gets cross and restless.

Poor kiddie! All he needs is McCoy's Tablets — that stimulating health-building and energizing tonic which gives his frail, sickly body and bones the nourishment he can't possibly get from his food.

If you need more flesh, are rundown, weak, nervous and feeling miserable, you can get 60 McCoy's Tablets for 60 cents at Mathews Medicine Store or any drugstore in America.

You can take these tablets for 30 days—then if you are not satisfied with the improvement in health—get your money back—Adv.

Willing Workers Give Program.

The Willing Workers society of St. John's Lutheran church met last night in the home of Mrs. J. G. Reinartz, Jackson stret. After the singing of "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," Mrs. Mary Rinestine gave "Easter Meditations." Mrs. Frank Shone discussed "A Home Without a Bible."

Mrs. Reinartz conducted the business session.

Twenty-five guests were present, including Mesdames Henry Krause and Ida Walter of Midland, and Mrs. C. W. Williams of Zanesville.

The next meeting will be held April 11, in the lecture room of the church, with Mrs. August Seel as hostess.

Bilious child suffers agony.

No more headaches and sickness.

Save your child from splitting headache and prostrating sickness. If the tongue is coated and breath unpleasant, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with constipated waste. Simply give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and shortly after all the sour, irritating bile and fermenting undigested food will be moved from the bowels, leaving the system clean and sweet and the child bright and strong.

"California Fig Syrup" suits child's system better than any harsh purging medicine, and they love its delicious taste.

There are many imitations of California Fig Syrup. To be sure of getting the genuine, look for the name "California" on the package.—Adv.

MOORE STORE CO-OPERATIVE

Furniture Company Joins 2,000 Dealers in Buying Plan.

Three carloads of furniture for the Moore Furniture company arrived in East Liverpool today, signalized the store's first step in co-operative buying.

The consignment of furniture is the local company's initial purchase under a plan unifying the buying power of 2,000 dealers throughout the country with the huge production resources of one of the largest furniture manufacturers in the world, the Showers Brothers company of Bloomington, Ind.

Eleven complete factories with all of the most modern machinery, equipment and skilled craftsmen have been co-ordinated in the production of this furniture to fill the requirements of the nation-wide chain of dealers.

The three-car allotment is one of the largest orders placed at one time in the history of home furnishing business in this city, the lot including living room, dining room, bed room and kitchen furniture as well as accessories.

"HOLY SPIRIT," REVIVAL THEME

Rev. Harry Rodgers Preaches in Church Of God.

How Christians are made strong spiritually by the presence of the Holy Spirit was realistically described in an illuminating sermon by the Rev. Harry Rodgers of Cambridge at the Church of God, West Ninth street, last night. His subject was "The Holy Spirit, Heart Purity for Believers."

The revival, it was announced, has for its purpose the salvation of souls and the spiritual uplift of all attending with a consequent increase in the state of their personal happiness.

"When I Get to the End of the Way" was sung by Harry Monigold, director at the Second Christian church, during the song service preceding the sermon. Miss Estella Sprotman of Kittanning, Pa., who is directing the revival singing, sang "Nearer the Lord." She also organized a chorus which is made up of children from eight to 12 years of age.

Announcement was made that Carl Fultz of Wellsville would sing at tonight's meeting when the Rev. Mr. Rodgers will preach on the theme, "The Redemption Story."

The Holy Ghost is the third person of the Trinity, the evangelist declared, "and his gifts are to bless, guide, teach all those who are saved.

"There is heart purity for all who believe in Christ who prayed that His disciples might be sanctified."

Sanctification he defined as a miraculous work, making man a fit temple in which the Holy Spirit might live.

"Before the coming of the Holy Spirit the disciples asked who would be greatest in the kingdom of God. After His coming they became humble and crucified their selves."

TEN AT ALTAR AFTER SERMON

Rev. S. E. West Wins Converts in Revival Campaign.

"Disclosed eve nin preachers and those of the church testifying at times, it is evident they have the theory but not the baptism of fire that characterizes those animated by the Holy Spirit," declared the Rev. S. E. West, the pastor at the Free Methodist church revival in Avondale street last night.

Ten persons went forward to the altar in the after service following the sermon, making a total of 38 since Sunday. In preceding days of the campaign, others from night to night have also made similar moves though no attempt has been made to remember the exact number.

Delegations from Hookstown, Pa., and Chester, W. Va., were in attendance at last night's service.

Congregational singing preceded the sermon.

"He shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost and with fire," part of John the Baptist's sermon at the river Jordan as the forerunner of the Christ formed the text of the pastor.

He indicated how fire, wind and water were emblematic of the Holy Spirit which, he said, "comes to consecrated people."

"Some do not feel the need of the Holy Ghost," he said. "If we want the Holy Ghost we must preach against all carnality and live it in our lives. With the baptism of the Holy Spirit the world would be moved to Christ and God. The lack of the Holy Spirit in the heart makes people fail to testify and causes them to become cowards. They would be justified so that all persons would speak well of them. But we must stand out for God.

"Doing that brings conviction to men and causes sinners to come to Christ. Nothing makes church machinery run like the baptism of the Holy Spirit.

"There are those who want to get to the end without proceeding on the track that leads to it.

"Some people are all fuss and feathers and can not be depended upon. In the sifting time the chaff will be separated from the wheat. We must let Christ have full power in our lives. We must be ready to fill the places which the Christ would have us fill."

BIBLE READING BILL AWAITS VOTE IN HOUSE

WEAVER MEASURE

Rabbi Rivlin, Columbus, And Three Others Oppose Plan.

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 15.—Indorsed as a Ku Klux Klan measure, and known to have the support of the Ohio W. C. T. U., the Bible bill, making the reading of the Bible in the public school of the Buckeye state mandatory, today was pending in the legislatures.

At a meeting of the house schools committee late yesterday, J. H. E. Moxley, Canal Fulton, pleaded for passage of the bill, saying he represented three organizations of every county in the state. When asked what they were, Moxley with a defiant gesture, said "The Junior Order of the United American Mechanics, the Daughters of America and the Ku Klux Klan."

"I wear its badge," he shouted and pointed to the emblem of the Knights on his watch and coat lapel.

W. C. T. U. Leader Speaks.

In further support of the bill, which was introduced by Representative Lloyd Weaver, Akron, Representative B. L. Creesy, Ashtaubla, introduced a letter from the local chapter of the Klan at Ashtabula indorsing the bill.

Next, Mrs. Mary E. Van Kirk, Columbus, corresponding secretary of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, spoke in favor of the bill, declaring she represented the 46,000 members of the league in Ohio. She said that the main reason for the indorsement of the bill by the W. C. T. U. is so some of the 25,000,000 boys and girls now receiving no religious training in the home or the church could get it through the schools.

Provisions of Measure.

Only a few speakers opposed the bill. They included Rabbi Solomon Rivlin, Columbus; Olin J. Ross, Columbus attorney, the Rev. C. V. Leach, Mt. Sterling, and James E. Rullison, Toledo.

The bill, in brief, makes the reading of ten passages daily in the public schools compulsory.

Oldest Fire "Engine" Shown.

England's oldest known fire "engine" has just found a home in the London Museum. It is a lareg oval wooden tub, and the water was pumped through an iron pipe in the middle. Originally it rested on a carriage with solid wooden wheels, but these have disappeared. The "engine" was made in London in 1678 for a town in Bedfordshire.

NEW DEVICE WILL RECORD TREMORS

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — An earthquake recording machine of a new type will be installed by Massachusetts Institute of Technology at a seismograph and geodetic station at Camp Technology, the Institute's summer engineering camp near East Machias, early next summer, according to announcement here.

The seismograph instrument permits remote recording, and in the installation at Camp Technology the record will be made in the quarters of an observer at some distance from the seismograph units. The instant the galvanometer begins to swing in response to the earth tremor, the message is automatically flashed by wire to a specially equipped darkroom where a tiny pencil begins tracing the story of the earth waves on sensitized photographic paper.

SMART NEW YORK WEARS THESE HATS

On the smartest avenues of the metropolis you will see these hats worn at the present moment . . .. the last word for chic in spring millinery.

New and interestingly shaped, tiny-brimmed, off-the-face, eye brow and droopy-brimmed hats that show braid, and straw of rich design, combining many colors into a gorgeous whole, looking for all the world like expensive hand made hats worth three times their modest price.

All head sizes.

EDWARD HESTER CASE REINSTATED

On the motion of the plaintiff, and with the consent of the defendants, the judgment of dismissal formerly entered in the $600 damage case of Edward Hester against the county commissioners has been vacated and and the action reinstated. This case, pending since April 27, 1927, was filed to recover for the destruction of a lot. Last January the case was dismissed for want of prosecution.

A motion to vacate a judgment has been overruled by Judge W. F. Lones in the foreclosure action filed by the Salem Chattel Mortgage company, against J. D. Woods and E. H. Althouse. Judgment for $800 was entered several months ago against both defendants.

There has been a settlement out of court, at the cost of the defendant, in the $10,000 damage suit filed last June 19 by Wilda Neal against William Doughty.

Myer Pazer of East Palestine has been made a party defendant on his own motion in the replevin case of Terbert Andress against Constable Earl Spalding, of Unity township. Pazer has been granted leave to file a cross petition.

A demurrer to the amended answer has been overruled in the foreclosure petition filed by Zana S. McCrea against Sadie and Thomas J. Jackson.

Mrs. Vera Brooks Asks Divorce.

Willis Brooks, formerly employed as an automobile salesman at East Liverpool, has been sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Vera Brooks. The petition charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. They were married last June 20, and Mrs. Brooks charges her husband accused her of unbecoming conduct. She also alleges that Brooks has remained away from his home late at nights, and that he had told the plaintiff to leave home. Alimony is sought in addition to a decree.

PETITION ASKS FUND ACCOUNTING

Bernice I. Lower, as the next friend of William Lower, 3, has filed a petition in common pleas court against Mary L. Cope, of Columbiana, asking an accounting and removal of the defendant as trustee of a $2,000 trust fund established by the will of Walter E. Lower.

According to the petition, when Lower died April 10, 1928, $2,000 life insurance money was to be invested in a trust fund for the education of William Lower. The petition alleges the defendant has refused to recognize the trust.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following real estate transfers have been filed for record:

E. S. Allison and others to Ohio Power company, land in section 35, Liverpool township, $1; Emma E. Pyle and others to Ohio Power company, land in same section; John E. Leeper to Ohio Power company, land in same section, $1.

Abner Powell and wife to Francis Powell and wife, land in section 34, Liverpool township, $5.

Rose Ruhe to Herbert E. Ruhe, lot in Observation street, East Liverpool, $1.

Frederick Owen and wife to Jason Yaney, lot 7328 in Midway Land company addition, East Liverpool, $3,900.

Affidavit for transfer of real estate inherited from John A. Deidrick by Lillie A. Deidrick, lot 105 in Wells' 1833 addition to Wellsville, $1.

Cornelia M. Hyland and others to Joseph Magill and others, part of lot 2 in Shive's addition, Columbiana, $1.

W. C. Bennett and wife to F. L. Coy and wife, lot in Union street, Salem, $10.

Asks $200 Damages for Crash.

As a result of an automobile wreck on the Salem-Lisbon road, near the Pennsylvania railroad crossing, Nov. 6, 1927, Joel Cobbs has filed suit here against Alex Ditty of 416 130th street, Cleveland, for $200 damages. Negligence on the part of the defendant is charged by the plaintiff, who says Ditty failed to heed a warning of the plaintiff when he attempted to pass the car driven by the plaintiff.

Althar Named High Grid Captain; McConville To Head Cagers

Letters Given to Athletes

Girl Basketballers, Reserve Quint Also Honored.

FRED ALTHAR, center on last year's high school football squad, was named captain of the 1929 eleven, and Harry McConville, guard on the present Blue and White cage combine, was chosen leader of next season's quint at special chapel exercises here yesterday afternoon.

In addition to the selection of athletic leaders, the chapel ceremonies also featured the distribution of letters to members of the football squad, the basketball squad, the basketball reserves, the girls' basketball team and student managers. Total of 52 awards were made.

Selection of Althar and McConville as captains was virtually unanimous. Both will be seniors next year.

The letter awards were made as follows:

Basketball—Robert Witherow, captain; Dave Feit, Paul Dyke, Joe Chetwin, Harry McConville, Bill McNutt, Leroy Small, Howard Lindell, Bernard Menge, Ben Crawford and Leonard Greenwood; Robert Earl and Vic Cochrane, student managers.

Basketball Reserves—Edward Lane, James Bowen, Damon Pearson, Clyde Clark, Donald Burbick, Dick Dalrymple, Marvin Wooley, Kenneth Schneller, Sam Brown, Merle Smith and Sol McCoy.

NEW LEADERS BOB UP IN A. B. C. MEET

CHICAGO, March 15.—New leaders in the team event, the singles and the all-events appeared in the American bowling congress standing today following last night's sensational assault on the pins.

Jess Davis, of Chicago, performed the greatest individual feat when he crashed first place in the singles with a score of 723, having games of 221, 237 and 265. Davis was tied for first place in the all-events with Paul Green, also of Chicago, with a score of 1871.

The Sahlen Packing company team of Buffalo, N. Y., smashed into first place with the first 2,900 score of the tournament. Their exact score was 2,926.

KIWANIS QUINT WINS OPENER

SALINEVILLE, O., March 15.—Kiwanis Independents defeated the Salineville Ex-Highs last night at Addison hall in the first game of a three-game series for the village championship.

The contest was close all the way and, while it was bitterly contested, the action was clean and comparatively free from fouls.

Renatio Gardini drew with Charlie Strack.

In Training Camps

Columbus Yans Win.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 15.—The Yannigans beat the Regulars in the first practice game of the season in the Columbus Senators' American association camp here, yesterday, 4 to 1. Yannigans accounted for eight hits and the Regulars seemed content with six. Lloyd and Eggenberger were on the mound for the Regulars. Harris, Fishbaugh, and Maxton did the hurling for the seconds.

Dazzy Vance Signs.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 15.—The "battle of Clearwater" was to end officially today with Dazzy Vance, strikeout king of the National league, winning a $25,000 verdict over the directors of the Brooklyn club. Yielding to the pleas of Manager Robinson, the directors consented to grant the pitcher a $2,500 raise last night and Vance will be signed, sealed and delivered here today.

Braves Even With Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15.—The Yankees and Boston Braves resumed their spring series here today with each team holding one victory. Hits by Maguire and Harper gave the Beaneaters a 6 to 4 win over the world's champions in the tenth yesterday. Wiley Moore being nicked for the winning runs. Ruth and Gehrig got two hits apiece and Lazzeri three.

Tribe Rained Out Again.

NEW ORLEANS, March 15.—Heinemann park, the Cleveland Indians' training grounds, was a muddy, soggy morass today, quite unfit for baseball, and the athletes will probably do their training this afternoon under the grandstand. The Indians were rained out for the third straight day yesterday and people hereabouts are assuring them that "this is very unusual weather here for the middle of March." General Manager Billy Evans arrived in camp yesterday with Earl Averill, hard hitting outfielder, late of San Francisco, in tow. Averill had insisted that he be allowed a cut of his sale price to Cleveland and Evans had to go to the coast to convince him otherwise.

Andy Reese Wins "Permanent."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 15. — Andy Reese, blond second sacker of the New York Giants, is entitled to a free permanent wave today as a result of hitting a tremendous home run over a hair-dresser's sign in deep center field in yesterday's game with the San Antonio Bears. His wife will get the marcel.

The Giants won, 15 to 5. It was the first time this season that John McGraw had all of his regulars in the lineup.

Brians After Toronto Net Tourney Title

Locals Billed in Second Game on Tonight's Card.

TORONTO, O., March 15.—Steubenville McCauslens, winners of the Amsterdam tourney, will open the Ohio Valley basketball tournament in Toronto high school tonight at 6:45 o'clock when they tackle the strong Midland All-Scholastics.

Fourteen entries, in all are lined up for the tourney, including the Brian Clothiers of East Liverpool.

Saturday sessions will be held at 1 and 6:30 p. m.

In the second game Washington Eagles will play Brian Clothiers, of East Liverpool, in a game that looms as a toss-up. Both teams are good and are booked as title possibilities.

Brown-Guska, one of the two Toronto teams entered, appear in the third game at 8:30 when they meet Brennen's Chevrolets of Wellsville. Two men on the Wellsville team were on the East Liverpool club which eliminated Toronto from the Pottery City tourney last year.

Bethany Bisons, favorites to win the crown, will oppose the R. T. Lewis club, of Pittsburgh, in another contest. Aided by the two Pappert brothers and other players who could not be here on last Monday the Smoky City team may spring a surprise, although it is doubtful as the strength of the Buffalo Creek outfit is mighty well known.

Steubenville Capitol Cigars, champions of the Wellsburg tourney by their victory last night, will tangle with a bitter rival in the Weirton Hubs who are said to have scored a win over the former Steubenville high men recently. The battle Friday will settle the issue one way or another.

Carl Himill, Bethany, and Neal Herrold, Washington and Jefferson, will referee.

New Cumberland Collegians and Follansbee Mountaineers, cream of the ex-high netters of the two West Virginia towns are other entrants in the tourney and will complete the sixth game on the evening program.

Midland Mid-City Motors hope to take the trophies home with this list of cagers: J. Niglione, playing manager; L. Glumac, Lewellyn, G. Suffoletta, J. Weir, R. Morgan, S. Trbovich, P. Samuels, J. Morgan.

Brian Clothiers of East Liverpool include some of the Ceramic City's best known and fastest netters. R. G. Brian s manager and Bill Cox of Ohio State is coach. Players are: Robert Crawford, Joe Canne, Frank Kirkham, Robert Witherow, David Feit, Howard Lindell, Leroy Small, Edwin Bloor. This is practically East Liverpool's strong high school team of this season with some experienced veterans added.

New Cumberland will be well represented with the New Cumberland Collegians who submit the following lineup: D. Marsden, manager; B. Roach, coach and guard; C. Edmonds, center; B. Davis, Ken Hill, R. Edmonds, forwards; W. Carroll, J. Porter, R. Edie, guards.

Fight Results

GRID CAPTAIN

Fred Althar.

Fred Althar, center on last fall's East Liverpool high school football team, will captain the Blue and White eleven next season as a result of the annual election held by players yesterday in connection with the awarding of letters.

CHESTER TIES FOR TOP BERTH

Chester Christians bumped off the Lutherans, 28-20, and the Methodists (A.) five licked the Methodist Protestants, 29 to 20, in Sunday school league tilts last night.

As a result St. Stephen's and Chester are tied for top place, each with nine wins and one defeat. They will battle it out for the title Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Then, these two teams together with the Lutherans and the M. E. (A.) five, the first four clubs, will stage an elimination series. The winner of this series will play the winner of the Monday game.

SHEA, BLOOM BUST BEAKS TONIGHT

COLUMBUS, O., March 15.—Columbus will occupy the spotlight in boxing circles Monday night when Eddie Shea, Chicago's uncrowned featherweight champion, takes on Lou Bloom, local contender. Bloom has tasted defeat only once, that in the form of a technical knockout administered by this same Mr. Shea, a few weeks ago.

On the same night, at Cincinnati, Eddie O'Dowd, another up-and-coming Columbus youth, will enter the ring against Bushy Graham, bantamweight king.

Stivers High Seeks Seventh Buckeye Crown

Dayton Five Favorite in Tourney Opening Today.

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 15.—Dayton Stivers, defending their state high school basketball championship, is attempting its seventh title in the state tournament being held here today and tomorrow. Delaware high school is the only other school in the state to boast of more than one championship. Delaware won in 1913 and again in 1915. Record of the Class A state championship teams follows:

1910—West Milton, Miami county.
1911—Plain City, Madison county.
1912—Findlay.
1913—Delaware.
1914—Marietta.
1915—Delaware.
1916—Dayton Stivers.
1917—Huron, Erie county.
1918—Dayton Steele.
1919—Dayton Stivers.
1920—Dayton Stivers.
1921—Dayton Stivers.
1922—Mount Vernon.
1923—Lorain.
1924—Dayton Stivers.
1925—Springfield.
1926—Zanesville.
1927—Dover.
1928—Dayton Stivers.

Class B was not organized until 1923. Until that time, the smaller schools in the state competed with the larger. The Class B record since 1923 follows:

1923—Plattsburg, Clark county.
1924—Bellpoint, Delaware county.
1925—Bellpoint.
1926—Oberlin.
1927—Kent State.
1928—Marshall, Highland county.

OHIO U. CAGERS GIVEN AWARDS

ATHENS, O., March 15.—Seven members of the 1929 basketball squad of Ohio university will be awarded varsity letters for the past season, it was announced here today.

BABE TRIES NEW BATTING STANCE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15.—Babe Ruth is experimenting with a new batting stance which he hopes will increase his home run output as well as his batting average. The home run king of the Yankees is now standing about a foot further away from the plate so that he can "lean on" balls in the groove and on the inside, and tap wide ones into left field for singles.

NINTH GRADERS COP CAGE MEET

MIDLAND, Pa., Mar. 15.—The class tournament of the Lincoln high school has come to a close with the Ninth graders champs of the upper classes and the 7A class victors of the lower classes.

These games were played off within the last week under the supervision of Alex Della Valle, instructor of boys' physical education.

The Seventh A won from the Seventh B with a 4 to 1 score. The Eighth A won the next one from the Eighth B will a 31-22 score. The Ninth grade outclassed the Tenth graders in the next game of the series with a 27 to 20 score. The final clashes were taken by the Seventh A over the Eighth A with a 27 to 18 point game; and the Ninth graders outplayed the Eleventh graders

The next program by "Sunday" Della Valle will be to eliminate the 40 teams which make up the gym classes of this instructor. The games will start today.

RYANS DEFEAT M. E. CAGE SQUAD

The Ryan Soda Grills recently defeated the M. E. Cagers here, 28 to 26. Stewart, P. Brant and Cartwright starred for the Ryans while Craig, Bolles and Cullen performed well for the losers.

Mitchell Set On Knockout Here Monday

Expects to Drop Tube City Pug in Early Round.

"With only four rounds to work in and no necessity for saving my strength, as I would have to do over the six-round or the eight-round route, I'm going to open up on this guy with all I've got and if this fight doesn't end early it won't be my fault."

Mitchell declares he is in excellent condition and ready to give the Tube City lad everything he's got every minute.

Hoak may have similar ideas. If he runs true to form, he probably will, judging by his performances in former scraps. He's a fighter of the slambang type and Matchmaker Wyands is counting on a lot of action from him.

Mitchell has been keeping his eye sharpened up with periodic scraps in the last couple of months and sees no reason for not dropping the McKeesporter.

Hoak is more or less of a youngster, 22 or 23 years of age. Among his recent victories is one over Bobby Collura in Pittsburgh.

LYTELL SCORES AS "LONE WOLF"

Lovers of mystery dramas have a treat in store for them at the Ceramic theater where Columbia's "The Lone Wolf's Daughter," opened last night. Once more Bert Lytell assumes the role that brought him into popularity, that of Michael Lanyard, the "Lone Wolf." Of all the stories by Louis Joseph Vance, "The Lone Wolf's Daughter" is perhaps the best from a motion picture viewpoint. It lends itself to dramatic interpretation, has plenty of action and suspense and affords the director ample opportunity to introduce colorful and novel scenic backgrounds.

A fine cast under the capable direction of Albert S. Rogell is in support of Lytell. Such names as Gertrude Olmstead, Charles Gerrard, Lilyan Tashman, Donald Keith, Florence Allen, Robert Elliott and Ruth Cherrington are included in the list.

The story relates the adventures of the "Lone Wolf" in America just after he has adopted the daughter of a deceased friend. The girl is engaged to the son of one of the oldest and wealthiest families of New York and the "Lone Wolf" is struggling to conceal his past exploits, feeling that they would injure the girl. Two notorious international crooks take advantage of the "Lone Wolf's" weakness and use him as a tool. How he turns the tables upon them, matches his strategy against their cunning, furnishes one of the most thrilling and exciting dramas that has been shown here in a long time.

The "Lone Wolf" also has a love affair of his own which he conducts in a bizarre and unusual manner.

"GANG WAR" WINS AS LOVE STORY

Depicting with rare fidelity the life that is lived by denizens of that weird and unstable stratum of the social order known colloquially as "the underworld," which in its more picturesque aspects has a certain fascination for even the most sedate citizen, "Gang War" had its first showing here last night at the State theater.

Despite the belligerent suggestion of its title, romance is really the theme of this absorbing FBO special production, which held the tense interest of its audience to the last thrilling foot of film romance appealingly presented by those noted screen luminaries, Olive Borden and Jack Pickford.

It is the love-affair between a "taxi dancer"—one of the girls hired to dance with all comers in a public ballroom—and a saxophone artist in the orchestra, who yearns to take her away into vaudeville, that furnishes the motivation for some of the most striking scenes of gang warfare, as the romance runs counter to the plans of a burly bootlegger boss.

The climax of the gang battle, which furnishes a breath-taking thrill to the spectators, comes in the midst of a gorgeous and colorful scene depicting the celebration of Chinese New Year in the Chinatown of San Francisco. It is a machine-gun attack by one gang upon the headquarters of its rival and the fusilade of real mushroom bullets is the last word in realism.

"LAST WARNING" MYSTERY PICTURE

Next Monday will see the premiere in the American theater of "The Last Warning," a Universal talking picture adapted from the famous mystery play of the same name by Thomas F. Fallon, based on the popular novel by Wadsworth Camp. It is a real thriller, with Laura La Plante in the leading role, directed by Paul Leni, who directed Miss La Plante in "The Cat and the Canary," last season's screen thriller.

Appearing with Miss La Plante in "The Last Warning" is a strong cast including Montagu Love, Roy D'Arcy, Margaret Livingston, John Boles, Bert Roach, Burr McIntosh and a dozen or more other principals. The picture was supervised by Carl Laemmle jr. and is guaranteed to give creepy spines to the most sophisticated audience.

The story deals with a theater which has been closed for five years because the mysterious death of a popular actor. Suddenly, an attempt is made to put on the same play in which he met his death, with the original cast as far as possible. The ghost of the murdered star seems to haunt the theater. Strange and fearful things happen during rehearsals. Mysterious warnings threaten the actors. The opening night is a riot of chills and thrills with a smashing climax.

The dialogue, taken right from the play, plus the mysterious sounds, screams and other effects, make the picture a veritable breath-taker, according to advance reports.

LISBON

ANTHONY CROWELL FINED, JAILED

Anthony Crowell, formerly of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty before Probate Judge Lodge Riddle to a charge of petit larceny, and the destruction of dishes at the home of Viola Percy near Columbiana, was fined $50 and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Crowley was first arraigned before Justice of the Peace S. S. Weaver, at Columbiana, and bound over to common pleas court. A lesser charge was filed against him in probate court.

Mrs. Jessie Estell Divorced.

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty Mrs. Jessie Estell has been divorced from her husband, Roy Estelle. The plaintiff has been restored to her maiden name, Jessie Keeper.

Foreclosure Proceedings Filed.

Foreclosure proceedings have been filed by the Federal Building & Loan company of East Liverpool, through Hill & Davidson, against John Lee and others, asking judgment for $713.90, secured by mortgage on two lots in Morningside addition, East Liverpool.

REPENT, PASTOR TELLS SINNERS

Rev. R. C. Beechley In Penn Avenue Pulpit.

The Rev. R. C. Beechley, the pastor, emphasized the need of true repentanco on the part of sinners at the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church last night.

The Sunday school class of Mrs. Garnet Allison sang "The Church By the Side of the Road" during the preliminary musical service. Miss Lois Lawrence, accompanied by Miss Betty Brand, contributed a violin solo, Melody in F.

Announcement was made that the Rev. Dr. F. A. Dean, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Virginia avenue, would preach for Rev. Mr. Beechley at tonight's services.

"We learn much from the ceremonial actions of the Jews who would eat nothing that was unclean," he said. "As long as we hold on to that which is sin we can not enjoy true repentance."

He said that repentance constituted initially a conviction of sin, the knowledge that wrong had been committed. Then, this necessary fact having been realized, contrition would follow. Contrition, he said, will lead naturally to a confession of God of the sin or sins committed by the sinner which quite as naturally will be followed by conversion.

"It is basis that the converted person does not return to that which formerly polluted him," he said.

IMPURITY HIT BY REVIVALIST

Rev. J. P. Wisman Urges Sinners to Surrender.

"Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purify your hearts, ye double minded," was the appeal last night of the Rev. John Poe Wismon, pastor, as he quoted from the Epistle of James at the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church revival.

With many in attendance he called for an unconditional surrender on the part of those given sin. "The panacea for unclean hands and impure hearts is the ultimatum given by General Grant to General Lee at Appomattox," he said. "The sinner must forsake his ways and the unrighteous man his thoughts. There is no other way."

At tonight's service, the Junior league of the congregation will be present in a body and the Rev. Mr. Wismon will speak on the theme, "First Things First."

"The gospel affords ample provision for the deepest needs of the Christian," the pastor declared. "Hands are expressive of life; they suggest the defilement of sin. Repentance, leading to a belief in Christ, nullifies sin.

"The sinner must come to God on His terms. He demands surrender by the giving up of all that defiles and makes for impurity. Reuben qualifies as an unstable man. Jacob in his laments noted his vaccilating ways, saying that he 'was as unstable as water.'

"God's provisions meet even the need for a pure heart. By his gospel every phase of life is touched.

"The need of the moment is for every soul to become steady, settled and grounded in faith in Christ which will make of all Christians that are stable."

SPRINGTIME PARTY HERE SATURDAY

Officers and teachers of the junior department of the Second Presbyterian church will entertain the children and their parents at a springtime party tomorrow night in the basement of the church.

Program will be given during which a short talk will be delivered by C. E. Felton, county scoutmaster.

Oakland Prayer Services.

Prayer services were held last night in the Oakland Free Methodist church, in charge of the Rev. Brooks Morgan. Services will be held at the usual hours Sunday.

Rebekahs Meet Tonight.

Members of Ohio City Rebekah lodge, No. 782, will meet tonight in the I. O. O. F. temple, Mulberry street. Entertainment will be given at the close of the business session.

Scout Meeting Here.

Preliminary steps toward organization of a Boy Scout troop were taken last night at a meeting in the Second Presbyterian church, in charge of C. E. Felton, county scoutmaster.

Shark Products To Be Saved.

Valuable products from sharks are to be reclaimed in a factory which is to be erected at Twofold Bay, Australia. It is estimated that nearly $1,500 will be reclaimed in oils, leather and other substances produced from the sharks and other edible fish, many tons of which are caught in that vicinity during the whaling season.

Newell Worker Seeks Patent On His Air-Driven Engine

Fritz Kramer, Who Has Spent $1,500 and 10 Years' Labor on Model, Says Invention Will Revolutionize Auto Industry.

Fritz Kramer, Washington street, Newell, today applied for a patent on an air-driven engine on which he has worked for 10 years.

Four pumps attached to the machine keep air in the tank. He says the engine, once started, will run without fuel, or current until the air in the tank is shut off.

Kramer, a native of Germany, says he has spent more than $1,500 on the model. Lack of funds is now delaying his experimental work.

Hot Water Tank Used.

The engine, which he expects to revolutionize the automotive industry, is operated by two cylinders six inches in diameter. It runs on the same principle as a steam engine except that a steam engine is driven by steam while his is propelled by air.

Kramer has attached to his model an ordinary hot water tank with a tested strength of 150 pounds. With 100 younds of pressure in the tank, Kramer says that his engine will develop 44 horsepower. On this basis 150 pounds will give it 66 horsepower.

The inventor believes the engine will prove practicable in the operation of an automobile. Expense of gasoline would be saved, he pointed out, if the machine were installed in motor cars.

Model in Machine Shop.

His model is housed at the Ervin Machine shop, now occupying temporary quarters in the Standard pottery plant, Broadway.

Kramer was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1886. He was fire boss for the H. C. Frick Coal company near Connellsville, Pa., for many years and worked in Steubenville for about two years before coming to Newell two years ago. He conducted a shoe business in Newell for a short time.

Kramer has three sons in Woodlawn, Pa., a daughter who served as a nurse during the World war, now in Cleveland, and two other daughters who live in Connellsville, Pa.

FRENCH LANGUAGE IS LOSING GROUND

PARIS.—French as a universal language in South America is dying out, according to Claude Regaud, professor at the Pasteur Institute.

He bases his fear on the fact that religious emissaries from France, who also serve as instructors of language, are rapidly decreasing in number.

"Those who die are being replaced by Spaniards, Italians, Germans and Anglo-Americans," he says. "The moment is approaching when our language will only be represented by a few Belgians and Canadians."

Despite that the number of operators has been increased, it required an average of 40.2 seconds to put through a telephone call in London last year, compared with 37.8 seconds in 1927.

London spent more than $4,500,000 on public education last year.

RHEUMATISM IS NOW A MEMORY: KONJOLA PRAISED

Nervousness and Other Ills Vanish, Too, When New Medicine Is Put to Test.

MRS. NANCY PATTERSON.

"I never shall be able to pay the debt of gratitude I owe to this new Konjola," said Mrs. Nancy Patterson, R. F. D. No. 10, Washington C. H., Ohio. "I feel ashamed of myself that I ever doubted that this medicine could help me, but this is my opportunity to tell what this splendid medicine did for me, after I had suffered for years from rheumatism and nervousness. The rheumatic pains settled in my right shoulder, and I could hardly sleep at night, and by day I was scarcely able to move about the house. I was constipated, and nervous, and my health ebbed rapidly. I had tried scores of treatments without success.

"A neighbor, who had had experience with Konjola, urged me to give this new medicine a chance. I was full of doubts, but I started with it. To my astonishment, two bottles were all I needed to put me back on my feet again. In two weeks the constipation was relieved, and all the poisons were swept from my body, and every rheumatic pain had disappeared. I am feeling so well that I can hardly think or talk of anything else but Konjola."

Konjola is sold in East Liverpool, Ohio, at Carnahan's drug stores and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

London Again Talks Subways.

London may follow Paris in constructing subways under the busiest streets. The English city has long been considering the idea, but Paris already has started work on a causeway. Sir Sidney Low, who urged the London City Council 20 years ago to build double-decked streets, is again advocating that all new streets and as many old ones as practicable, should have subways or "shallow tunnels" which would take the street cars and heavy trucks off the street levels. He also is urging galleries or side chambers for pipes and wires, as adopted in Paris, so as to avoid the almost constant obstruction of the street traffic in order to get at those things.

Although Scotch people are slower to marry than either English or Welsh, they have, on the average, larger families and are better patrons of the divorce court.

"BUTCH" WRIGHT QUALIFIES AS GLOBE-TROTTER

Former Sheriff Has Made Five Trips to Europe.

BACK FROM CUBA

Adapts Himself to Frost After Visit to Florida.

Having with Mrs. Wright just arrived home from six weeks spent in Florida and Cuba, with a return stop in Washington, D. C., to witness the inauguration of President Herbert Hoover, former Sheriff George (Butch) Wright is adapting himself to frosty tendencies of the atmosphere today.

The ex-chief of the county's law enforcement unit can easily qualify as a globe-traveler, for he made five trips to Europe before the World war and since has twice visited Cuba. He still feels some resentment in the fact that after getting in the army the unpleasantness "over there" came to an end before he could negotiate his sixth trip across the Atlantic.

But with all of the appealing qualities of Florida, he is strong for Cuba. There the climatic conditions remain in a status that means little change. The heat at no time is oppressive, he says.

Sees Lindy in Cuba.

"There was no sickness in Florida or Cuba that I noted," he remarked.

He said that the Cubans are not exorbitant in charges though the rates are naturally a little higher during the height of the Winter season.

"By now there can be noted a drop in hotel prices," he suggested.

A night's ride on a boat will take one to Cuba from Florida. He was on the island in time to get a glance at Col. Lindbergh going by.

In Florida he saw Tom Sharkey and W. J. Stribling indulging in some of their preliminary training. But he was not in Florida when the fight occurred.

He saw no East Liverpool people in Cuba. In Florida he met Jacob Stein, Fifth street merchant.

One of the thrills of his Cuban visit was a 75-mile trip to an ocean point on another side of the island during which the beauties of the country were at their best.

"You can have American or Spanish cooking as you like any where there, though the Spanish customs are predominate," he said. "It is not necessary to speak Spanish. English is known everywhere."

Witnesses Hoover Inauguration.

He left his car in Florida during the time that he was in Cuba. Returning, he motored to Washington and arrived in time to have a fine view of what transpired there on March 4. He said that he was able to get quite close to the inauguration stand during the oath-taking ceremony.

He noted particularly the changed appearance of Chief Justice William Howard Taft. "One would hardly recognize him as the same person who in 1912 spoke from the platform here in front of the Buckeye club," he said. He is now about 70 years of age and shows it."

While in the capital, he saw Thad Brown, former secretary of state in Ohio.

Since retiring from the sheriff's office at Lisbon, Wright has been living in East Liverpool.

Finds Watch Lost In War

Offered a silver watch by a watch repairer, who told him it had been left for repair more than two years before and had never been called for, an English ex-service man bought it. Inspecting it later he found an inscription inside the case which showed that the timepiece was the one he had lost in France in 1917.

SPRING STYLES WORRY CO-EDS AT COLUMBUS

Slender Figured Girls Say "What'll I Do?"

PLUMPS HAPPY

Fashion Creator Gives Out Sad News At O. S. U.

COLUMBUS, O., March 15.—Styles for spring wear are causing no little worry to numberless co-eds at the state's largest institution of higher learning, Ohio State university.

Much of the worry is being absorbed by the slender figured co-eds who accepted the report that the spring "physical" style this year was slated to be plump with an open attitude of "What do I care?" and an inner feeling of "What'll I do?"

Among those "What'll I do?" girls who can, believe they can solve the problem by dispensing with the formal methods of dieting and reducing which has marked the daily routine of their lives since the slender figures came into being as the "stuff" of the modern age a few years ago.

Our Turn Now, Says Chubby.

Others who are slender by nature and by no effort of their own, are the luckless individuals who are worrying over the report and hoping that it is another of the unpopular fads, to last a short time, if even that long.

To the already plump personages on the Buckeye campus, the message was received with as much gusto and welcome as the Armistice in 1918. Its "our turn now" with the more chubby students.

A style creator from New York York gave out the sad news to the curveless co-eds while visiting the campus a few weeks ago. She told the forlorn "slenders" that in the east it is now fashionable to have a well-rounded figure and that the style would likely reach Ohio, and incidently Ohio State university, in the very near future.

Students List Opinions.

Here are a few student opinions of the style:

Miss Louise Callahan, sophomore (queen of the homecoming celebration and the junior prom)—"There is a happy medium at which point a girl looks best, wears clothes best and feels best. It isn't the skinny girl who gets the farthest—it is the neat trim girl with the personality that counts."

Miss Geneva D. Lyle, senior—"If the spring styles provide for rounded figures, I presume the 'slaves of fashion' on the campus will change their ideas."

Miss Lucy M. Sloan, junior—"It gives a girl 'sex appeal' to have a well-rounded figure and seeing the styles are to be that—well, Ohio State is to be benefited by the new style creations."

Miss Phyllis C. Devine, junior (weight, 100 pounds)—"I would just love to gain 10 pounds, but I believe most girls are afraid to even gain one pound."

Miss Gertrude M. Lippincott, sophomore—"The girls seem to change their ideas with styles, and I do believe they will wish to become a little heavier with the new spring styles." (Miss Lippincott drinks a quart of milk every day to gain a little more poundage).

Airmen and others interested in aviation will form an organization of British air pilots and air navigators on similar lines to the Honourable Company of Master Mariners.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR OHIO BANK

WEST ALEXANDRIA, O., Mar. 15.—The First National bank here, which closed its doors Wednesday following the suicide of its cashier, Sherman Mills, Monday night, was placed in the hands of a receiver today by order of the comptroller of currency, according to a notice posted in the bank's doors this afternoon.

E. Trimble Smith, Mt. Sterling, was placed in charge of the affairs of the bank.

No statement was made relative as to whether there were any shortages.

Nearly 34,000,000 square feet of patent leather were exported from the United States last year.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN made him wide-awake and well — doctor prescribed it

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yet thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, loggy and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better . . . I felt better and acted better . . . I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent it—to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FORMER BROADWAY STAR SAYS STAGE FOLKS SHOULD NOT WED

DES MOINES.—(INS)—Actors and actresses, if they want to be happy, shouldn't marry each other.

That's the opinion of Lillian Foster, former Broadway star appearing as the guest star of a local company.

A change of taste—that's what causes the frequent divorces among stage folk, Miss Foster says. For actresses to marry within the profession, she declares, is not only dangerous but often fatal since it means separation over long periods of time and no chance to "keep the home fires burning."

But a business man is different.

"You see," she explains, "a business man, if he had the money, could go to see his wife no matter where she might be playing."

To Give Inexpensive China and Glassware Brilliant Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders and Is Kind to Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CLIMALENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

"Yes, you are. You come on board and worn yourself into all his secrets. First, you're his confidential secretary, then you're his housekeeper. And God knows what you'll be next! D'you imagine he'd have behaved to you as he has done, if he'd had the slightest notion that you were as thick as thieves with his wife? Of course, he wouldn't! No man would have done what you've done. A man would have been ashamed to do it."

Harriet felt insulted, and the more so because she knew that the accusation against her was not an unjust one.

She had, in fact, several times in the watches of the night brought the accusation against herself—and tossed it away again. Naturally therefore, she was furious with the Honorable Luke, and warmly desirous of crushing him for an insufferable interfering and pharisaical jackanapes.

Said she:

"Will you please have the goodness to remove yourself from this car at once, and tell the chauffeur to drive me to the Hotel de Paris. And for all I care you can run along and tell Lord Furber everything I've told you."

Without a word the Honorable Luke sat up out of the coziness of the upholstery and turned the handle of the door. At the same time he switched on the interior lamp, illumining Harriet's face and his own. But neither could see the features of the other. It may be stated, however, that both were indignant, offended and angry. Harriet showed her feelings in the eyes. The Honorable Luke showed his in the hanging of his lower lip. Harriet was the first to resume some sort of self-possession. It may seem strange that something in the gloss and curves of Luke's light brown hair moved her in the direction of common sense and good manners (and perhaps also of good nature), but so in truth it was.

"Well?" he questioned darkly, putting one foot on the step.

"Come back and shut that door—it's terrible cold—and sit down a moment. I want to ask you something."

"Well?" Luke sighed and sat down.

"Switch that light off, please. There's no need for us to advertise ourselves to the whole of Monte Carlo."

"No," Luke agreed with sadness, and he switched off the light, and sighed again, the reluctant and resentful martyr of impossible women.

Silence within the car. Not a sound in the utterly deserted street.

"Why are you so rude and unpleasant to me?" Harriet demanded.

"I'm not," said Luke. 'I was only telling you the truth. And, of course, like all women, you hate the truth." He raised his voice suddenly. "Come, don't deny it. Was I telling you the truth or wasn't I?" He glared directly at her now.

Harriet laughed as easily as if Luke had been his cousin the wireless operator.

"I don't object to the truth. What I object to is the tone you use." A good-natured appeal in her voice.

She said to herself, strangely alarmed:

"I've got on to some very thin ice * * * It's cracking under me."

But, contradictorily, perversely, she enjoyed her alarm; she would not on any consideration have had the ice thicker than it was.

"The point is," Luke countered, copying the good-nature in her appeal: "Do you want me to take you seriously or don't you?"

"Why should you take me seriously?"

"I'm hanged if I know!" said Luke, and smiled savagely.

Harriet proceeded, pouting:

"Perhaps I ought to have told Lord Furber about his wife and me. But I didn't tell him instantly, in the first few words, and even you must see that I couldn't tell him later—it was too late then. And I can't tell him now, can I? He must be left to find out for himself. Besides, why should I have told him? If he's got himself into difficulties with his wife it's his own fault. And women have to stand together. If they didn't, where would a girl be—in these days?"

The implication in her latest tone was that society had arrived at such a pass that innocent and defenseless women, surrounded by an inexorable pack of unprincipled wolves, in the guise of men, had to protect one another by fair means or foul—or resign themselves to the terrible disaster of being devoured alive and en masse.

"I Hate You"

"It's just occurred to me why I take you seriously," said the Honorable Luke, quite ignoring Harriet's arraignment of society. "The reason is that I hate, detest and loathe you. You're a heartless flirt, an abandoned female, and a positive danger to the public." And with these words he leaned toward her and squeezed her wrist in his cruel masculine grip.

Odd, most odd, divinely odd, that for Harriet those brutal words had in them an angelical quality, soothing, uplifting. She was leaning back; he was leaning forward and sideways. She glanced at him from under her half-closed eyelids. And the boudoir in which they were inclosed together was so small, so cushiony, so impregnated with her perfume! Never before, despite sundry previous adventures of a not uninteresting nature, had she felt as she felt then. Timorous! Daring! Ready to swoon! Ready to sing songs of triumph! She noticed the expression on his face; at once honest, wise and masterful. Curiously there was something touching in the very bow of his black necktie, something intimidating in the sheeny convexity of his white shirt-front. She thought: "I'm seeing him now for the first time. He's all new to me. I've been blind."

He murmured:

"I shall have to kiss you in one minute—or less."

"Indeed you won't!" said she lazily. She was thinking: "I must be several years older than he is."

"Why not?" he asked.

She said:

"It's not done." And she was thinking: "He isn't even quite as tall as I am. And he's so shy. Not now, of course. But generally."

He said:

"But the other night you told me yourself that a kiss was nothing."

"Ah!" said she. "That was because I was offering it to you. Now you're asking for it."

"And I told you," said he, "I told you you'd see what a kiss was."

"Yes," she agreed. She was thinking: "This is a ridiculous situation. I can't possibly have my beautiful solitary existence complicated in this way." She said aloud, but not very loud: "I absolutely forbid you to kiss me. And if you try to I'll never speak to you again."

"Of course I submit," said he.

And he kissed her on the cheek, softly, softly. Had he touched her or had he not touched her?

"I needn't tell you that isn't a kiss," he explained. "The time hasn't come yet for you to see what a real kiss is."

He shifted away from her.

"But," she protested. "We've only known one another a few days."

"I don't see what the point of that is. What on earth has that got to do with it?"

"But it's absurd!"

"Yes. Quite. Sha'n't you be a bit late at the Hotel de Paris?"

To an acquaintance of hers, the ominiscient Negro who swayed the portals of the Hotel de Paris, Harriet Perkins suggested:

"Lady Furber is here, isn't she?"

"She didn't arrive after lunch?"

"No, madam."

Harriet passed within, thoughtful, and found the concierge.

"Yes, madam. She is in her apartment."

"Please inquire if she can see Miss Harriet Perkins at once. Yes, Perkins."

The concierge told somebody else, who told somebody else, to telephone upstairs. In two minutes Harriet was in the lift.

"I ought to have known she wouldn't have registered in her own name—as things are," Harriet said to herself.

TELEGRAPHER GETS $50,000 ON STOCK TIPS

Old Bill Hicks, Pioneer Prospector Tells Story.

ORE VEIN HIT

Aspen, Colo., Operator Wins When Mine Shares Boom.

By M. F. Dacey.
International News Staff Service Correspondent.

DENVER.—Tips that a Western Union operator at Aspen, Colo., sold when the Molly Gibson mine stock began booming from ten cents to $18 a share made him $50,000, according to a story related here, recently by Old Bill Hicks, pioneer prospector.

Along about 1882, Hicks related, stock in the $14,000,000 Molly Mine was floating around Aspen at ten cents a share. That was in the days when there was no 6,000,000 share days on Wall Street.

Two men, Barney Shear and H. B. Gillespie, each owned 100,000 shares in the Molly, as the mine was named. They figured they were about flooded out, until J. J. Haggerman, the man who built the Colorado Midland Railroad just to spite the Denver Rio Grande Western, put up $100,000 to unwater the stock.

Strike Silver.

Not long after this investment a vein of silver ore worth millions was struck in the Molly. It ran 5,000 ounces, and there seemed no end of it.

Haggerman and his partner were the first to be tipped concerning the strike, so they began raking in Molly stock from every landlady, peace officer and miner of Aspen and vicinity at ten cents a share.

Haggerman wired to Aspen in code, "Do not let Shear and Gillespie escape," which meant that Haggerman wanted all of their stock at ten cents.

The Western Union operator at Aspen was a friend of both Shear and Gillespie, and the operator knew every code west of the Mississipi, so he tipped the two men something had happened.

Is Arrested.

"Well," said Old Bill Hicks, as he leaned back in his chair and knocked the ashes from his cob pipe, "that about settled the matter.

"The operator was arrested and brought to Denver, but Shear and Gillespie came along. Just as fast as charges would be filed against him, his friends would put up bond money to get him out of jail. He was finally released because of lack of evidence.

"By that time, Molly stock had risen to $18 a share, so Shear and Gillespie began heaping gifts upon the friendly operator. The last gift was $50,000, which immediately sent the Western union operator to South America on a tour. The last that was heard of him, he was working as a cowboy on the plains of Wyoming."

It is estimated that 150,000 automobiles will be manufactured in Germany this year.

Such greasy hands!

Hard water won't clean them

HARD water can't do much with greasy hands. Of course, you use lots of soap. You try to get a thick lather. But the water is too hard; it combines with the soap and forms a scum. How can you expect to clean greasy hands in that water?

There is a way. Use Melo. Sprinkle a little in the basin. Water softened with Melo makes a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. Soft water and soap and lots of lather; grease won't stay long on your hands. Get a can of Melo at your grocer's today.

CHURCH SCHOOL DEFENDED BY REV. R. E. SCHULZ

Warren Rector in Pulpit of Episcopal Church.

"The church has a right to have co-operation of parents in the instruction of their children along definite spiritual lines," asserted the Rev. R. E. Schultz, of Christ church, Warren, in the fifth special Lenten week-night service at St. Stephen's Episcopal church, West Fourth street, last night. He made a vigorous plea for at least equal effort with that put forth in the secular training of youth.

Announcement was made by the rector, the Rev. R. K. Caulk, that the speaker on next Thursday night would be the Rev. Harry Buxton, of Christ's church, Kent.

The Rev. Mr. Schulz spoke of the right of every child to be well born and thereafter to have the care that would develop him physically. "And though we may not all agree with the methods utilized, the child usually has a fair intellectual training," he said. "He has less moral training than is given him physically and intellectually. It would seem that morally many regard their children as Topsies who 'just grew up.'

"And in the spiritual realm there is even less training," he affirmed.

Prepare Child to Live, He Urges.

He likened the development of children to soft pieces of plaster which, until hardened, could be made into any shape. "But hardened only hard work by a chisel can remodel it," he said.

He deprecated the statement of one allied with Johns Hopkins university that "all religion is just a bubble centering around superstitution," and the recent viewpoints of Judge Lindsay, of Denver, and of Clarence Darrow of Chicago who says that those adicted to wrong-doing are 'orn that way and nothing can be done about such tendencies.

"You can get the idea of the parochial attitude by visiting parish houses, where too often there are pool rooms for men, dining rooms for women, and lockers for the choir, but nothing at all for children unless occasionally a basketball game," he said.

Cites Church School Needs.

Various ways of preparing a child to live, he maintained, were begging the question unless in the educational process the end was to produce "a Christian in action, one endowed to fulfill the duty of God and man in Jesus Christ."

To do this he declared something definite must be taught the youth of the church. And the teaching should be such that assimilation could be made in each cycle of age. "We do not start children in secular schools in calculus and trigonometry," he suggested. "The teaching must thus be psychological and pedagogical."

He noted the need for punctuality, regularity, preparation and the element of worship in church school attendance. He said that in the first of these the percentages were about as 90 to 70 per cent in favor of the secular schools. He also pointed out that litte, if no preparation, was given many children by parents in their church school studies. "Why, even some parents permit their children to rise and prepare their own breakfasts before the church school sessions and they remain in bed while the children attend," he observed.

From all of these irregularities he declared children were growing up with disloyalty to the church and its school, it thus being effectively, though perhaps not intended as such, generated in the youth of the land.

Hits Week-end Trips for Scouts.

He depreciated also the sentimentality that any kind of teaching is good enough in church schools.

Particularly he criticised the tendency of week-end trips for Boy Scouts. "They should except on vacation time," he emphatically declared. "You do not permit the boys to leave on week-days when secular schools are being held. Why then insult the church school by unhesitatingly passing it up when it holds sessions on Sundays?"

He said it was wrong to think they had just as good teaching while on such trips.

He said that in cities of some 21,000 population there usually are attached to it some 30 or 40 doctors. "And I venture to say that you would trust but about three of these for a mastoid operation," he suggested, "and but one or two more for abdominal and other major operations. How careful we are as to our physical sides and how carelessly we permit anyone to teach our children in that which makes for their spiritual equipment!

He pointed out how all children are in danger of spiritual and moral lapses. "It is idle as some parents do to aver that their children will do no wrong. I have seen many such shed salty tears within the year after such foolish affirmations," he said.

Urges Parental Inspiration.

"Nothing short of the grace, strength and power of God will keep our children safe and saved at the present time."

"Parents, therefore, should by precept and example, teach their children that the school they attend on Sunday is no less worthy and important than that which they are pupils in on Monday. They should not by precept and example permit them to get the idea that school in church is a secondary affair in life.

"All of the foul crimes that are noted on first pages of newspapers these days are not committed by young persons who came from slum districts, but by those who hail from the best homes in many instances," he said in conclusion. "Let it not be said in the words of the text that you have by your action caused them to offend by a lack of parental inspiration."

Does Your Child Possess Musical Talent?

——Find Out Now!

You Needn't Buy A Piano— For These Free Lessons

Here is a question that puzzles parents— answered for you by the Free 'Melody Way' piano classes conducted by this store. No longer need you invest in a piano—then wonder for months whether your child will develop musical talent. This modern method of piano teaching requires no piano at home—costs you only $2.50 for the outfit—and we give the instruction free.

Children love the "Melody Way." They work with simple melodies instead of humdrum scales. Practice is fun. They learn rapidly. In ten weeks, the term of this free course, you can tell definitely whether your child has talent and should continue musical training. Register early. Positively no enrollments will be made after next Wednesday, March 20th. Sending your child to the "Melody School" does not obligate you in any way. You do not need a piano. This is a conclusive way to develop your child's musical ability. Or to know that any money spent on his musical education would be wasted. If he doesn't learn by the "Melody Way," future instruction is without avail.

The Course consists of ten 1-hour lessons—one hour each week for 10 weeks. Classes assigned upon enrollment. Any child between 8 and 15 who has not taken piano lessons before may attend absolutely FREE. Enroll now—classes will begin within the next few days. No applicants will be received after next Wednesday. Parents or Guardians should register the child within the next few days. No enrollments made by telephone. Apply in person at the Smith & Phillips Music Co., 409 Washington St.

We Also Have Teachers of Banjo, Ukulele, Violin, Guitar, Mandolin, Cornet, Trombone, Clarinet or any other musical instrument -- Now at Our Studio Here at the Store.

The Store of Cheerful Service

A Monument to Modern Merchandising

After weeks of planning, reconstruction, and re-arranging we have opened the doors of a NEWER, GREATER ERLANGER'S for the approval of East Liverpool, and community. A store made modern for today with effeciency features planned in advance to meet the needs of Tomorrow. A Merchandising Institution dedicated to "CHEERFUL SERVICE"

This newer, greater Erlanger's is the proof of our faith in the future and possibilities of East Liverpool. A faith which began when Wm. Erlanger, Sr., first opened the doors of the original Erlanger Store on Fifth and Broadway nearly half a century ago.

With all our expansion, all our improvements, all our beautifying, all our modernizing, we shall steadfastly hold to the traditions and ideals that have made Erlanger's the leading store of East Liverpool for the past forty-eight years.

Will Brunt, Sr., was the first customer of the original store back in 1880. We wonder who will be the first customer at the opening of the New Erlanger's.

A PHOTOGRAPH OF THE STORE BEFORE THE WORK ON IMPROVEMENTS BEGAN.

A delight to the window shopper will be the new arcade type display windows designed to beautify the store front and to present to the public the latest styled merchandise direct from the fashion centers.

The Newer, Greater Erlanger's now with the addition of new departments, enlarged sections, and the change of department locations now occupy the entire building at Fifth and Washington streets. A fast, safe elevator service has been installed, assuring quick service for patrons visiting the various floors. Supplementing the elevator service is the improved more conveniently located stairways. .....

At the cost of thousands of dollars we have modernized this store to meet the needs of progress. New departments have been added that our patrons may enjoy even greater advantages of this store's service and facilities in providing the public with the newest and most dependable merchandise it is possible to obtain.

New Erlanger Store In Golding Building Will Open Tomorrow

Three-Floor Structure at Fifth and Washington Streets, Home of Business for 42 Years, is Remodeled in Expansion Program Which Costs More Than $50,000.

MANY NEW DEPARTMENTS ADDED; ENTRANCES ON TWO THOROUGHFARES

Architectural Beauty Marks Front, While Interior, With New Fixtures and Other Equipment And Every Modern Provision for Comfort And Convenience of Patrons Will Appeal.

MARKING the completion of a $50,000 remodeling and expansion program, the new Erlanger store, one of eastern Ohio's leading department concerns, will be formally opened tomorrow.

Acquiring the third floor of the Golding building in which the store has been located for 42 years, the company has added many departments and installed other branches in larger quarters. The store now occupies the entire building. An elevator operates from the basement to the top floor.

The improvements include a new front, which is one of the most elaborate in Columbiana county.

The interior of the store is a bower of beauty. New show cases and other fixtures have been installed, and an improved lighting system has been provided.

ON one side of the main floor are handkerchiefs, hosiery, jewelry, neckwear, gloves, leather goods and undergarments for women and girls. On the opposite side is the men's furnishings department, giving the male customer secluded service. In this department are men's hats, caps, shirts, pajamas, underwear and other furnishings. Across the aisle are neckwear, gloves, sweaters and other needs.

The elevator shaft is located on the west side of the building well toward the rear. The shoe department occupies the lower level floor at the rear of the building, which has an additional entrance from Washington street. This part of the building was formerly used for the women's frunishings department. The removal of a wall which encased a stairway leading to the old Trades and Labor Council chamber on the third floor added space to the first floor.

In the basement of the building is the new rug, drapery and home furnishings department. This may be reached by a stairway which leads near the Fifth street entrance. This stairway has two landings from which visitors may obtain a clear view of the entirefloor.

THE basement floor has also been enlarged by a change in the elevator room. In this part of the building is the workingman's department. Work pants, shirts, overalls, gloves, socks and everything else for the man who laborers will be found in this section.

Rugs will be found in the basement store. Draperies also have been artistically arranged in this part of the new store.

On the second floor, which may be reached by elevator or a newly constructed stairway near the front of the building, is the department devoted exclusively to boys' clothing.

New suits and top coats of the latest spring cuts and cloths will be found in this department. The suits are kept in dust-proof cases equipped with plate glass doors. There also are wash suits for the youngster, rain coats, blouses, caps, hats, hose, underwear and pajamas have also been placed in this department.

Offices of the auditor, secretary and other executives are at the rear of the boys' clothing department. Adjoining the offices is the work room where alterations to ready-made clothing are made. This department is in charge of expert tailors.

THE men's ready-to-wear clothing department also is on the second floor. The fixtures for this part of the stor are equipped with triple mirrors, enabling the prospective customer to view himself from any angle. New dust-proofs swivel cases for men's suits, top coats and overcoats have also been installed in this department.

The entire third floor has been given over to women's and girl's wearing apparel. The floor has been covered with a velvet carpet of silver gray. New cabinets of community design have been installed. To one side is a women's parlor, with easy rockers and chairs.

Nearby is the corset department which has been stocked with the newest offerings. On this floor are also spring coats and dresses and frocks for all occasions. A separate counter has been set aside for house dresses.

The building has been equipped with a modern heating and ventilating system. The ventilating system makes several air changes in the building each day. Basement is kept ventilated as well as the upper floors.

15 - RULE BUSINESS POLICY OF NEW ERLANGER STORE

2—Truth in advertising. To understate rather than exaggerate, when we quote comparative prices it means the last price against the lower price advertised.

3—To lower prices all through the stock, creating thereby a larger volume in sales, with added benefit to the public.

4—Specializing on specials and the kind of merchandise that the public wants.

5—To inspect and recheck all merchandise received for flaws or imperfections before offering it to our patrons.

6—To keep the public informed on the correct trend of styles and qualities.

7—To confine purchases of merchandise to only the best and most reputable of manufacturers.

8—To have for inspection the new things in stock when they are new—to keep abreast of every whim of Dame Fashion.

9—To maintain a constant mark-down system on slow-selling merchandise which does away with the necessity of continuous sales.

10—To encourage your suggestion and cold-facts criticism so that we can continually improve our service to you.

PHONE SYSTEM FOR ERLANGER'S

With the present day merchandising methods keeping step with the onward march of progress, the telephone is fast becoming a necessary essential equipment of the up-to-date stores that offer their customers the most in service and the conveniences of the present time.

All telephone calls coming into the new Erlanger store will be answered by the private branch exchange operator, who rings the particular department or person wanted. This makes the telephone service connection with the desired person much quicker than the old system.

Inter-store calls are also handled by the private exchange operator. The Erlanger exchange is connected with the main telephone office by two trunk lines.

NEW FIXTURES ARE INSTALLED BY ERLANGERS

Modern Cabinets Replace Old Cases in Store.

STRIKING CHANGE

More Spacious Rooms And Wider Aisles Provided.

Installation of modern equipment, replacing virtually every fixture used prior to the beginning of reconstruction, occasions probably the most striking change in the new Erlanger store, Fifth and Washington streets, which reopens tomorrow.

Old cases are gone, having been replaced by all new modern cabinets, specially designed to care for the maximum varieties of stocks without loss of other valuable space. The sections have been torn away and in their places appear neat, attractive display cases as modern as it is possible to design them. The entire room is more spacious, affording wider aisles, greater assortments, and more attractive displays. The entire equipment is furnished in dark walnut. A new composition flooring in a soft buff tone in block pattern harmonizes beautifully with the other improvements.

Two entrances now provide access to either the men's furnishing goods department, which occupies the left hand isle, or the women's furnishing department, which is located to the right. In the men's section are the hats, caps, shirts, sweaters, underwear, hosiery, gloves and other new articles that men require. The women's department, now in its new and better location, displays the latest in hosiery, underthings, gloves, jewelry, umbrellas, and other accessories needed to complete the spring costume.

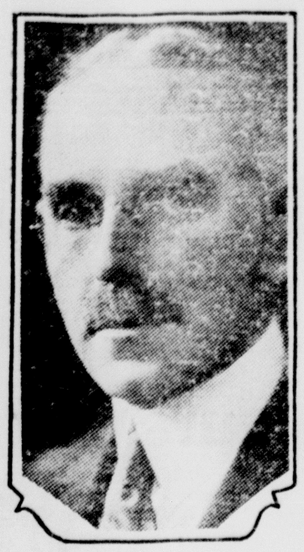
TOURISTS VISIT HAPSBURG TOMBS

VIENNA.—Tourists in Vienna are more interested in dead kaisers than in works of art, or scientific exhibitions, according to statistics published by the municipality.

The monthly number of persons — mostly foreigners—visiting the "Kapuziner-Gruft," the family-tomb of the Hapsburgs, during the past season amounteed to about 36,000, while the National Museum of Art had only 15,000, and the Museum of Natural History only 8,000 visitors in the same period.

Havana, Cuba, plans to build a stadium, capable of seating more than 25,000 people, in which will be held the Central American Olympic games next year.

FATHER AND TWO SONS OWNERS OF ERLANGER STORE



William Erlanger

Lester Erlanger

Julius Erlanger

William Erlanger and his two sons, Julius and Lester Erlanger, are now the owners of the new Erlanger store. The younger Erlangers recently acquired the stock of Bert Erlanger. The sons also conduct men's and women's furnishing stores at Glens Falls, N. Y.

HAVANA WINTER SEASON EXTENDED

HAVANA.—The winter season here apparently is going to run for two weeks longer than usually is the case. All steamers making this city a port of call are booked to capacity for another month.

Airplane travel from Miami has become so heavy that the Pan American Airways has placed another plane on the run to Havana, making a total of three planes to arrive here daily. Every arriving plane brings a capacity list of passengers and it is believed that before the season reached its peak a fourth plane will be added.

ERLANGER CO. DOUBLES ITS SALES STAFF

Expansion of Business Prompts Increase in Personnel.

TRAINED WORKERS

Most of Employes Have Large Coteries of Friends.

Expansion of business which will result from the capacity of the selling floors and the enlarged and greater number of departments has caused the Erlanger company to virtually double its personnel.

Most of the employes have large coteries of friends. Several new members have been welcomed to the organization.

Every employe has been chosen because of his or her capabalities in the chosen field. All have been instructed in the store's policies in order that courteous and efficient service may be rendered patrons.

Bird Films Help Aviators.

Flights of birds are expected to aid aviators who study the pictures being made by Baron C. Shiba, the young Japanese who has been filming the methods used by the feathered air travelers. Shiba's camera works so fast that it requires 20 minutes to show on the screen all the pictures photographed in one second, so that every movement of the birds can be studied. Shiba claims that his pictures also enable an aviator to see like a bird.

E. J. PRIDDEY PUBLICITY MAN

Canton Man Joins Sales Force of Erlanger Company.

Edward J. Priddey, formerly merchandising manager of the Klein, Heffelman Zollars's store of Canton, has joined the sales force of the Erlanger company. He will have charge of the women's and misses' coats, dresses and millinery and children's wear department and also assist in sales promotion and publicity.

Priddey received his early business training at John Wanamaker's Philadelphia store, where he was engaged for more than 12 years. Recently he has been managing and merchandising large stores in Ohio and western Pensylvania. He also was general manager of the Schwartz Brothers' company of Johnstown, Pa., and the Glasser Brothers stores in Pittsburgh and Johnstown.

IS THIS LOVEY-DOVEY NEAR END

Whatever the impression may be elsewhere Miami's smart set is sure that Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor have come to the parting of ways. That their recent meeting at the Sharkey-Stribling fight was a gesture to avoid box office trouble is another guess of the smart setters. Jack is supposed to have helped the supposedly strained relations by his visit to Tia Juana durnig the frist week in January. Some say this and some that, but Estelle has her own domicile and Jack has his.

EXPERTS DESIGN ARRANGEMENTS OF ERLANGER'S

Grand Rapids Store Corporation Studies Local Conditions.

WEEKS OF WORK

Local Executives Aid in Planning General Layout.

Typical of the experience and background which have gone into every step of the remodeling and rearranging of the new Erlanger store is the general layout, modern and efficient in every respect.

The first of the year, the Erlanger executives called upon the Grand Rapids Store Equipment corporation and arranged for the service of their designing and store planning department in the arrangement of the new Erlanger's store. The Grand Rapids corporation sent to East Liverpool two experts and they made a thorough study of local conditions, the flow of traffic, trade to be served, merchandise to be handled and volume of sales.

The designers, with the cooperation of the local executives, building from their years of experience, provided for the receiving of merchandise, elevator, new flooring, entrances, stairways, case systems, lighting and the location of all departments from the merchandising standpoint.

This took weeks of planning and careful study.

We Take Pleasure in Extending Our

Congratulations

to the Management of the Newly Refinished

ERLANGER'S

49-YEAR STORY OF ERLANGER'S READS SUCCESS

Late William Erlanger, Sr., Founder of Business.

MAN OF VISION

First Establishment at Fifth Street and Broadway.

The 49-year history of the Erlanger store in East Liverpool is a testimonial to the business ability of these generations of the Erlanger family.

William Erlanger, sr., who died in Canton, December 26, 1928, founded the store in 1880, a few years after his arrival from Bavaria, Germany, where he was born. East Liverpool at that time had about 3,500 persons. Most of the town's business then was located at Second street and lower Broadway.

Being a man of vision, William Erlanger realized that business eventually would leave the river front and locate on what was then known as the "hill" section. He leased a building, which occupied the present site of the present Horton drug store, opposite the postoffice, and opened his establishment which he called "The Philadelphia Branch Clothing store."

Boxes Supported Counters.

The first Erlanger store had the appearance of most "small town" mercantile concerns at that time. Boxes and barrels were used as supports for the counters while the only illumination was provided by flickering oil lamps. Fifth street became knee-deep with mud in the winter and spring, stepping stones being used as cross-walks.

With the opening of his store the elder Erlanger adopted a policy of honest and upright dealing with a one-price to all customers.

Six years later, William Erlanger, jr., joined his uncle. During the next year the store moved to the M. E. Golding block, its present site, occupying a portion of the first floor and basement. New departments were added from time to time. Later the second floor was acquired and the rear part of the building which had been occupied by the W. A. Weaver company was also taken over Clothing Departments Enlarged.

Men's and boys' clothing departments enlarged. Other lines of merchandise, including women's dresses and millinery, underwear, sweaters, hosiery, infant's wear and house furnishings were added, making the store one of the most complete in eastern Ohio.

When the interests of Bert Erlanger were acquired by Julius and Lester Erlanger, on last January 1, plans had been formulated for possession of the third floor and remodeling which would cost not less than $50,000.

No Oats For Police Mourning His Master

"Brownie," police mount, and Patrolman Gerald Butler are forming a new friendship following the demise of "Brownie's" former master, who had ridden him for sixteen years.

Duty Finally Wins Out Over Deep Grief For Loss.

Since Brownie attended his late master's funeral he has been a problem to his keepers of the New York mounted police. He wouldn't eat, nor could anyone mount him. The police say he is mourning for his master, Sergeant James A. Dowling.

Dowling and Brownie worked together as member of the original "rough riders" squad of the department. They perfected the business of pressing back crowds without injuring any one. No one except, Dowling ever rode Brownie, although the horse was not unfriendly to the overtures of other police.

Dowling became ill and died. An escort of his associates on the mounted force attended the funeral and Brownie, caparisoned and bearing reversed stirrups, walked in the procession.

Brownie started to whinny as soon as the coffin was carried out of the house.

There was quite a crowd in the street and they were afraid of him. He acted strange all the way up to the church and back to the stable.

But now, after the loneliness and grief have worn off, sensing in his equine philosophy it would be the wish of his dead master to carry on, Brownie has answered duty's call and can be seen once more patrolling the old familiar beat.

Although the sun is burning itself up at the rate of 250,000,000 tons a minute, says a European scientist, it is so large that it will not be reduced to the size of the earth for approximately 100,000,000 years.

Germany has a literary revival.

ERLANGER BOYS ARE POTTERY CITY NATIVES

CLIMBED LADDER

Brothers Also Own Store in Glens Falls, N. Y.

Lester and Julius Erlanger, who with their father William Erlanger, now own the Erlanger store, are natives of East Liverpool.

The two brothers attended the Pottery City's public schools, spending their spare hours and Saturdays in the business founded by their great-uncle, the late William Erlanger, sr. Their training in the store gave them the foundation of the success which they have attained in the merchandising profession.

Julius Erlanger was the first to leave East Liverpool, taking a course in business economics in the University of Pittsburgh in 1916. He then went to Lebanon, Pa., where for six years he was in charge of the Bon Ton store. This store was merged with the Hahn organization when Erlanger retired.

Lester Erlanger also graduated in business economics at the Warton school of the University of Pennsylvania, joining his brother in the Bon Ton store at Lebanon in 1918. Leaving Lebanon the brothers purchased the C. Marks & Company ladies' furnishing store at Glens Falls, N. Y. At that time the business occupied the main floor of store room, 22x115 feet, and a 22x65 basement.

In the following year the brothers purchased another building in the Glens Falls business section and opened a men's store. Under the management of the brothers the two businesses prospered, and in 1925 the second floor of the building, housing the ladies' store was added, doubling the floor space. To meet the demands for still more space the three-story building was purchased in the following year. New store front, elevator and fixtures were then installed, making the business one of the most modern in that section of New York state.

Returning to East Liverpool from Glens Falls the brothers purchased the stock of Bert Erlanger. Their father, William Erlanger, retaining his interest in the business.

OWNERS RECALL 'PLAYING STORE'

Dreams of a childhood when they would be at the head of a "big store" will be realized by Julius and Lester Erlanger with the reopening of the remodeling Erlanger store, Fifth and Washington streets, tomorrow.

The Erlanger brothers recall "playing store" in East Liverpool. Their ambition was that sometime they would own and control a store like their father, William Erlanger, jr.

As boys, the Erlangers played "hide and seek" between the counters of the store which at that time occupied only a part of the first and second floors of the building.

"It will be our aim to make the new Erlanger store an institution dedicated to public service, a store in which the public will enjoy shopping," said Julius Erlanger. "The same high ideals which were characteristic of William Erlanger, the founder, will be maintained by the new owners, and if possible improved upon to meet conditions of the future."

Electricity May Aid Irish.

Electricity may help to stop the exodus from Ireland, according to those who have visioned the development of the River Shannon scheme. With the distribution of light and power throughout the country, it is believed, many of the hardships that have caused Irish to go to oth r lands, will disappear. This applies especially to the rural districts where electricity is now almost unknown. The power company plans to educate the farmers and their wives in the us of labor saving devices to take the place of manual labor which is now so prevalent. The innovation will be of special relief to women, whose hard and monotonous tasks have driven many to places of easier work and more comfort.

RESILIO

The Cravat Pre-eminent in Style & Wear

THE man who has a flair for the inevitably correct always chooses a Resilio Cravat. Apart from the superior virtue of its resilient construction, Resilio, for style alone, stands pre-eminent. Resilio is not merely a cravat, but an infinite variety of cravats, translating into distinguished expressions of personal taste, the inspired modes—in color, pattern and weave—that are first revealed in Bond Street, at Deauville, at the Lido, in Palm Beach or at Burlingame, at Yale and at Princeton. Little wonder that those who lead rather than follow the styles for men, find complete personal satisfaction in selecting from the broad range of Resilio Cravats, those major or minor harmonies in color, those authentic native patterns or sophisticate designs, those familiar finer fabrics or modern textile inspirations, which please them. They find it even more satisfying to know that, however delicate the fabric they select, it will tie absolutely correctly, without danger of being marred by wrinkles, because of the resilient patented construction.

A Building of Character!

As a matter of personal pride and business expediency, a building should represent the very utmost in the way of beauty and durability of construction. And, be it business building or bungalow, factory or apartment house, the prime need is a conscientious contractor.

Because we carry out these thoughts into actuality, our business has expanded in the past two years so that our work is represented in nine states and sixteen cities. Specializing in remodeling store fronts and business buildings, store operators have found that the experience we have gained in concentrating on these two forms of contracting work has enabled us to produce a finished job that meets with their approval as well as the public's.

However, we do not have to tell you how good we are. We need only take you by the elbow and show you Erlanger's or many other buildings we have constructed —edifices of character—an endless source of pride and profit to the persons who selected our service.

READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT ON THIRD FLOOR

Women's Apparel Section is Called "Daylight Department."

MIRRORS, TABLES

Walls and Ceiling Decorated in Pure White.

"The daylight floor"—That's the term applied by executives of the new Erlanger store to the women's ready-to-wear section, occupying the third floor of the reconstructed building.

All the old walls and fittings have disappeared. The visitor steps from the elevator on to luxuriously carpeted floors.

Rich silver-gray garment cabinets, mirrors, cases and tables in attractive community design comprise the new equipment.

The walls and the ceiling have been decorated in pure white. Modernly designed lighting units with massive globes suspended at regular intervals by bronze finished chains assure a maximum of illumination even on the darkest days or at night, giving rise to the term, "the daylight floor."

New Easter selections of everything that's new in beautiful coats, dresses, skirts and other apparel for women, misses, juniors and girls are being displayed in their respective sections.

The millinery department also is given considerable attention, the line ranging from inexpensive offerings to the more costly adaptations of imported models.

Corsets, silk underwear, uniforms and house frocks also have their special display sections. Plenty of mirrors, dressing and fitting rooms add to the utility of the department.

LOUIS BAZELL SHOE MANAGER

George Ostrov Also in Erlanger Footwear Department.

Louis L. Bazell, formerly of Youngstown, and George Ostrov, who came here from Akron, will be connected with the shoe department of the new Erlanger store.

Bazell, who will be manager of the store, has had a wide experience in the retail shoe business. He is known through central and eastern Ohio where he has had a number of connections.

Ostrav will be the buyer for the footwear department. He has been engaged in the shoe business for about eight years in a number of the large cities.

The new department will carry a complete line of men's, women's and children's shoes and house slippers.

German Tinker Real Ponzi.

Germany is still discussing the disclosure of the list of wealthy victims of Franz Tausend, the tinker arrested at Bolzano, South Tyrol, for obtaining large sums from persons who believed he could make synthetic gold. Among them was Herr Alfred Mannesman, one of the Rhineland's greatest industrialists, who was a founder member of the company for exploiting Tausend's "process," and contributed at first $25,000, and later $125,000. Another victim was a Berlin manufacturer who added $25,000. A Cologne engineer invested $12,500, and the son of a successful manufacturer is said to have put in his entire fortune of $75,000, which his father had left him. The tinker and his wife invested the money in real estate. It is believed they collected $1,750,000.

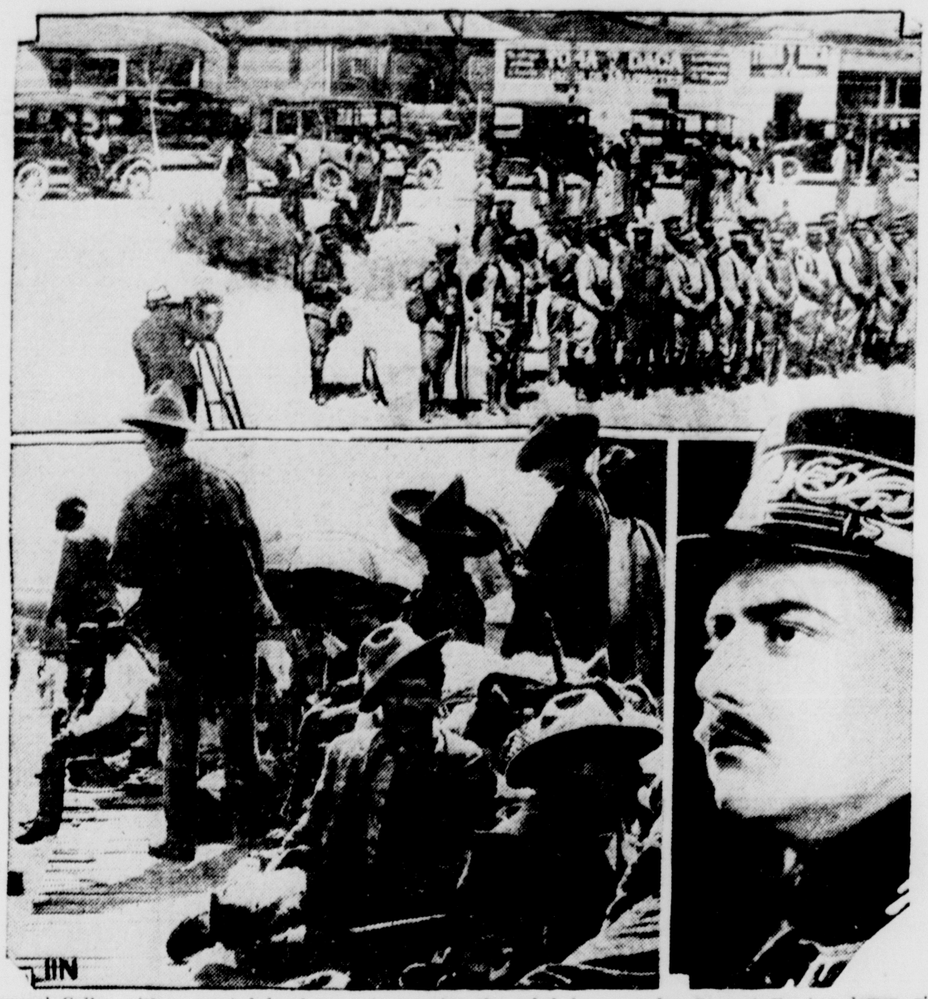
EMBATTLED REBELS CONCENTRATE THEIR FORCES



General Calles with a great federal army is pressing the rebel forces under General Escobar, lower, right, on all sides, forcing them into the town of Torreon where the decisive battle of the revolution is expected to be fought. General Escobar was successful near the border and forced federals to surrender, many of them giving up to United States forces rather than to the rebels as the squad, top, seen after seeking safety in El Paso, Texas. Lower right shows some of the troops which Pancho Villa led into Torreon in 1914 when that city was the scene of an important battle of the last revolt.

FEMININE AUTOMOBILE DRIVER'S "COMPLEX" BLAMED FOR CRASHES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(INS)—The feminine automobile driver's "courtesy complex" is responsible for a large number of minor accidents, in the opinion of Mrs. Mattie G. Tipton, Jacksonville policewoman.

"The woman at the wheel feels that she is entitled to certani privileges, traffic laws or no traffic laws, and she is going to have them," said Mrs. Tipton.

"Only about 15 per cent of the automobile fatalities involve women drivers," she commented.

CABLE SYSTEM FOR CASH CARS

Speed and Efficiency Will Mark Handling Of Change.

Installation of the Lamson preferred cable system in the new Erlanger store assures speed and efficiency in satisfactorily handling cash.

The system makes it possible for a central cash office to care for all business quickly and effectively, a time-saving device that Erlanger customers will appreciate. The cable cars coming from each department will terminate at the cash office, on the balcony over-looking the main floor.

The car travels 102 feet a minute.

Village Dialect Play Wins.

With a larger attendance than ever before the annual play given recently by the people of little Grasmere, England, to keep alive the local dialect, was the most successful of any produced. Students of folklore from many parts of the country attended. Grandchildren of the players who started the idea were the actors, and villagers were scene shifters, property men and program sellers. The play, "A Will and a Way," written by Mrs. E. Rawnsley, a local woman, was rich in colloquial expressions. A local man wrote the music ,which included a charming ballet. The actors were only required to be natural to get their effect. The leading woman was the daughter of the hotel proprietor, and the leading man a chauffeur. Others in the cast were a farmer's daughter, a joiner's wife, a grocer, a tailor and a plumber.

In the British Empire are 8,000 motion picture theatres, one-half of which are in the United Kingdom.

Rail-Bus Line for Scotland.

Plans for a combination of railways and bus lines to cover all of Scotland are reported to be under way. As a result there has been a boom in motor stocks on the leading exchanges. The proposals indicate that the more important bus lines will be run as a part of the railway service instead of independently as at present. If the reported plan goes through, passengers may buy tickets for any point covered and make part of trips on railways and the rest on buses. If the present overtures to the motor lines fail, the railways say they will adopt the plan by installing buses of their own.

STORE WINDOWS ARCADE TYPE

Display Space Extends Full Length of Building.

Realizing the importance of careful designed show windows in the promotion of merchandising institutions, the Erlanger company has given more of the main floor selling space to accommodate the more modern store front.

The windows are of the arcade type. The arcade is fully protected against rain, snow and extreme heat as it is high and arched. It extends the full width of the building, having double the window space of the old front.

The windows are in modern plaster treatment with a touch of the Gothic and modern Spanish in the woodwork which is finished in rich walnut.

Cabinet Members' Hobbies Lead Many of Them To Great Outdoors

Hoover's helpers, through their hobbies, reflect their chief's own favorite sports and amusements. The president is a disciple of Izaak Walton and is fond of roughing it in the open. Attorney General Mitchell, Secretaries Wilbur and Lamont also like the rod and gun as a diversion. Secretaries Good and Brown and the attorney general also golf "a little," but there isn't a man in the portfolio who can break 100. Secretary Brown prides himself on his cooking, particularly "chicken paprikasch," a complicated Hungarian dish. Secretary Davis spends off hours promoting the Loyal Order of Moose. Secretary of the Navy Adams is oppositely fond of yachting and sailing, while Secretary of Agriculture Hyde appropriately finds farming his chief diversion. Secretary Mellon has long been a collector of paintings and works of art. Vice President Curtis, who sits in at cabinet meetings, sits well in the saddle. He used to be a jockey and is a frequent visitor at the Maryland tracks. Secretary Stimson also rides, but tennis is his favorite recreation.

REAP HARVEST

"Phoney" Medical Men Operate "Cancer Clinics."

BY ARTHUR B. DONEGAN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

DES MOINES. — Iowa is a happy hunting ground for quacks and "phoney" medical practitioners.

The assertion by D. C. Steelsmith, deputy state commissioner of health, was backed up by an estimate that of approximately a hundred cases of malpractice and quackery that are reported to the state health department annually, convictions are gotten on only eight or ten a year.

There are between 600 and 900 persons in Iowa presently violating the medical practice statutes of the state, Vernon D. Blank, managing director of the Iowa State Medical society, estimated. Their presence in the state was explained, state health authorities and medical men said, by the weakness of Iowa's regulatory laws as compared with other states.

Reap Hartvest.

Fearful of disobeying the medical practice statutes in Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Minnesota the quacks pour into Iowa, they said, and are reaping a harvest in the state.

The quacks are particularly successful in operating "cancer clinics" and in treating that disease, state health officials declared.

"Of the 2,725 deaths that resulted from cancer in Iowa during 1928 at least a thousand could have been prevented if the cancer patients could have received early treatment by reputable physicians instead of resorting to "quacks," declared Dr. Henry Albert, state health commissioner.

Difficulty in securing evidence sufficient to convict the quacks under the present loose and indefinite state laws prevents the state health department from putting them out of business, the commissioner said.

H. W. Grefe, director of the division of the examinations in the health department, also laid part of the difficulty of conviction to the reticence of patients who have been treated by quacks.

Patients Ashamed.

"Many patients have so much faith in the illegal medicine practitioners they refuse to testify against them," Grefe said. "Others are ashamed when they discover they have been bilked by medical frauds and will not appear against them for fear of being made ridiculous in the eyes of others. And reputable medical men are hesitant about taking action against quacks for fear the public will ascribe the action to professional jealousy."

At least four fraudulent "cancer clinics," treating thousands of patients a year, are now operating in Iowa, Grefe declared, but it is impossible to secure evidence strong enough to convict the operators of medical malpractice.

The only hope, state health authorities said, in curbing activities of quacks is to warn the people of the state until the laws governing medical practice are modernized and made definite and stringent.

Postman Composes Hit.

Inspired on his way home from the bedside of his father, Richard D. Orton, at Tottenham, England, postman, composed a song that has become a hit. It was his first effort as a song writer. He cannot read music, and was helped in this respect by his wife. After a sudden call to Romford, where his father was very ill in a hospital, Orton and his wife cycled back through Epping Forest at four o'clock in the morning. Hearing a lark singing, Mrs. Orton said, "We are up with the lark this morning." "That's a title for a song," Orton replied, and the idea was born.

Women live longer than men, recent statistics showing that for every three men aged between 75 and 85 there are four women, while for every four men over 85 there are seven women.

Promise of Wealth Lures Man From Farm to Pottery

The promise of wealth and prosperity in the pottery center of America prompted Edward D. Crews, who recently celebrated his seventy-second birthday in his home in Michigan avenue, to settle here more than 30 years ago after spending 4 years on a farm near Parkersburg, W. Va.

"Many were the stories that I had heard of the progress of the city of East Liverpool, and the many jobs that were open to anybody that would apply for them," Crews said today.

A cloudburst in 1886 wiped out the country home in Jackson county where he was born on February 7, 1857, and caused him and his wife to seek a livelihood in Parkersburg. It was there that the tales of the growth of the Ceramic City were heard by Crews.

Marry Young, He Advises.

He is the father of seven children, and has eleven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"If any man and woman wants to live long and be happy I suggest that they marry young and work hard for the things that are necessary in life," is Crews' advise. "I married at the age of 20, and I do not regret it. As for working hard, we were always taught that early to rise and early to bed, with hours of hard work between, was the best formula for old age. And that has proven true."

"I favor, also, the use of tobacco by the young men of today, but utterly dislike the use of nicotine by girls and mothers," said Crews.

Democrat in Politics.

Crews is a Democrat, and advocates government control of the liquor problem. However, he does not favor return of the open saloon.

He recalls Civil war days, and said both Union and Confederate soldiers had been lodged in his parental home.

Crews is a member of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church. "I was taught the Golden Rule along with my A B C's when I attended the Wood county rural school more than 60 years ago," he said. "And I was given the other fundamentals of the religion at my mother's side and later in the old country church."

The future of the pottery business looks bright to this veteran of the trade.

Cement objects that had been sprayed with metal were recently shown in Germany. The process was developed by a scientist who claims that it renders the material waterproof. Molten tin, zinc or lead was sprayed over cement and concrete slabs, tanks and pipe, and is said to have been successful also in covering all other forms of artificial stone.

Paris Funerals Must Speed; Horses Banned

By Alice Langelier.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS.—The dead must move faster, according to city authorities in the capital, who are now ordering modern auto-hearses to take the place of the old-fashioned carriage drawn by horses.

French funerals passing through the city from one end to the other have always held up traffic and stolen time from important matters, they say. It would not be so annoying if the living as well as the dead could be taken to the cemetery in some kind of conveyance. But the French custom has long been for friends to follow along with the hearse on foot. The horses, naturally must make it a slow trot. On corner turns they are given free leeway and even a Paris taxi-chauffeur would never dream of crossing the procession.

NEW JERSEY TORCH VICTIM STILL UNKNOWN

Jersey police are following meagre clues to the solution of Jersey's second torch mystery which occurred near the place where Miss Brown was found under similar circumstances one year ago. It is thought possible that the burning woman found by James Boyle, right, was murdered by the same fiend. Her jewelry, lower panel, is of a cheap type. Her coat being examined by detectives, upper left, offers slight clues. From her apparel and from the reconstruction of the scene by the police, upper center, startling similarity is revealed in the two crimes.

The cult of the dead in France hints very strongly of paganism. The French respect their dead ones, no matter what they were during their lifetime—this means everybody, perhaps except the different black-caped coachmen and palibearers who are never happy unless their funeral is a first-class one, which of course means higher tips for them. As it passes through the city the corpse receives a tip of the hat or cap of every man, including that of the fastest chauffuer, as well as the sign of the cross from every woman passer-by.

The unusually cold winter is said to be the chief cause of the very noticeable increase in the cost of living in France. At the big markets, even the modest potato is nearly fifty per cent higher than at the same period last year. Carrots show an increase of twenty-five per cent; leeks, which were once considered veritable poor man's food, fifty per cent; cabbage, 75 per cent, as well as lentils.

Turnips, however, are providing the real sensation, at 325 per cent higher than a year ago. Once considered a necessity to make her famous French soup, the housewife is now compelled to call it a luxury and very often dispense with it.

First quality beef costs six cents more per kilo than at this time last year, veal five cents more and mutton about the same.

Island for Sale on the Anglo-Norman coast, situated about one quarter of a mile from the Island of Sercq. It boasts of one habitation, surrounded by a small piece of cultivated land.

According to an ancient custom, the owner of the island is always considered a member of Parliament of Sercq, which, however, has not convened for many centuries.

Jaywalking is once more taboo in Paris, according to the orders of the well-known Prefect of Police, Monsieur Chiappe. After obeying the new traffic rules for crossing streets only at angles or at certain positions along the boulevards, Parisian pedestrians have once more relapsed into their old habits of imprudence. Gendarmes have been given instructions to watch carefully and report all offenders.

YALE LANDS TWO CABINET PLACES

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—When Harvard's hockey team, several times beaten this year, put the Yale hockey team down to its first defeat of the season, Yale Daily News seized on the occasion to note:

"Mr. Hoover did his best to assuage the injuries by handing the Blue a two to one victory over her Cambridge rivals in the cabinet appointments. H. L. Stimson, '88, and W. D. Mitchell, '94, scored for the Eli's while Harvard's lone talley was rung up by C. F. Adams, '88."

PICTURE PATTERN

Extremely Attractive.

THE STYLE No. 3453 perfectly expresses the femininity of the mode, yet retains dignity in its clever lines, which makes it so extremely attractive and suitable for street as well as for more formal wear. It adapts itself beautifully to all the new fabrics as printed silk crepe, plain faille silk crepe, georgette crepe or sheer woolen.

THE PATTERN is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. One glance at the Picture Chart which is included, will immediately give you an idea of how easy it is to make. Experience isn't at all necessary. You can cut it out and finish it completely in two hours even if it is your first attempt at sewing.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want. Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion Department, East Liverpool Review. From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

MEN'S, BOY'S CLOTHING ON SECOND FLOOR

DRESSING ROOMS

Comfortable Chairs and Other Conveniences For Patrons.

Modern clothing departments for men and boys will occupy the entire second floor of the new Erlanger store, Fifth and Washington streets, opening tomorrow.

These departments now extend practically the length of the building, with the exception of the space occupied by the executives' offices, across the rear of the floor.

The old offices, which were at one time between the two clothing departments have been removed. Experts in store arrangements have planned and rearranged the clothing cabinets and dressing rooms to afford the greatest convenience in serving the store's patrons and to simplify as much as possible the proper selection of apparel.

Gate-Crashers Ousted.

Society hostesses of London are again trying to stop the gate-crashers this season, and some have used direct methods. At some dances more than 100 uninvited guests have been present, and very few had less than a half-dozen. Mrs. Reginald Coke received the first attack when giving a fancy dress dance, and politely, but firmly, asked seven intruders to leave.

NEW SPRINKLERS ARE INSTALLED

The Erlanger store has been equipped with an automatic sprinkler system, affording protection to patrons, employes and merchandise.

The pipes are installed in such a way that most of them are between the walls and the ceilings, branching out in every direction. Back of 600 sprinkler heads are thousands of gallons of water ready to extinguish any fire where it starts.

TWO AISLES ON SHOE FLOOR

Latest Modes in Footwear in New Department.

Providing a greater variety of lines from which patrons of the establishment can be served, the new Erlanger store, opening tomorrow, announces the installation of a modern shoe department.

This new section now makes it possible for patrons to outfit themselves and family from head to foot within the one store. The latest models in footwear will be shown.

A new floor of composition tiling gives a modern appearance to the effect and being easily cleaned, has the advantage of being more sanitary than the old type of floor. Modern equipment makes it a cheerful place to shop.

By using the main entrance, patrons have the choice of two spacious aisles, one leading through the men's furnishings and the other through the women's department.

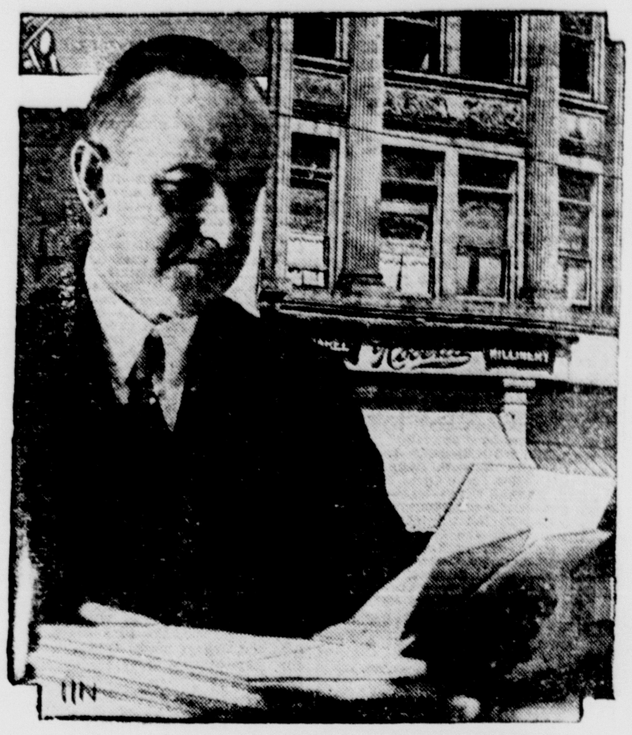
In addition there is an entrance from Washington street which opens directly into the shoe department.

OUT-OF-TOWN SHOPPER INVITED

The out-of-town shopper is invited to make the new Erlanger store his headquarters. He will find extra service to help him in locating the various departments, thus making shopping satisfactory.

One Chinese railway reports that it is doing more business than ever before in its history.

BACK IN HIS FORMER LAW OFFICE



More pleased by finding himself free from the arduous duties of the White House than being back in his old office at Northampton, Mass., former President Calvin Coolidge smiles contentedly, seated at his old desk. He finds the Blackstonian atmosphere agreeable but has made up his mind that he will not practice law.

ANTI-NARCOTIC LAW EFFECTIVE

DES MOINES.—Drug victims in Iowa have decreased 9,500 since the Harrison anti-narcotic law, was passed fourteen years ago, according to Capt. H. G. Higbee, federal narcotic agent for Iowa.

There are at present less than 500 drug users in the state, the agent declared, and the number is still declining.

Full cooperation of physicians and medical societies and the driving out of "peddlers" of narcotics, Capt. Higbee believes, will in time eliminate the use of drugs and reduce the number of victims to a negligible figure.

BOSTON BUSINESS PLAN LONG TOUR

BOSTON. — A "National Land Cruise" has been announced by the Boston Chamber of Commerce which will present to members of the chamber an opportunity to see the business centers of the south and west, to meet leading business men of these localities, and to "sell" Boston and New England.

The itinerary will comprise a trip to the Pacific coast by way of Georgia, Louisiana and Texas, and a return journey across the continent. The trip will extend from April 22 to May 19.

Work has just been started on the $65,000,000 docks at Southampton, England.

"Offices In All the Principle Cities of the East"

"MEET THE PRINCE" IS AS STRONG OR AS WEAK AS LOVE SCENE

By David P. Sentner.
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service).

NEW YORK.—The vanilla wafer entitled "Meet the Prince" by A. A. Milne is so whimsical.

Whimsicality—

Is playing peek-a-boo with realism.

Punching lace-work in the petticoat of Mother Nature.

The ability to answer a question by asking another one.

The term applied to a friend when you are too polite to call him a liar.

Of course, one should be a dreamer to appreciate whimsical things and dramatic critics are notorious open-eyed creatures. They pursue edition times, suburban trains and most practical economic connections. I have seen but few of them who smoke a pipe between intermissions.

Whimsicality was meant to dance not mince. Yet the play "Meet the Prince" reminds me of a snail or a window-shopping expedition. It puffs along like a hobo's dream on a sunny day.

If the production were thrown into high speed, despite its frothiness, it would be thoroughly charming and entertaining.

The lazy exchange of conversational soap-bubbles concerns Prince Michael (Basel Sydney), an imposter, who meets his own wife whom he once deserted, Jennifer (Mary Ellis). She also is an imposter in her own right posing as the widow of a British general.

Wifie shakes her finger at her pretending hubby and "poufs" him—which is a whimsical term for threatening to reveal his duplicity if he does not go away.

Perhaps the most outstanding truffle in the cast comes in the last five minutes of the play.

Sydney uses the cuteness of Miss Ellis' arm and ear for a telephone in which to whisper his renewed flame-song of love.

If you and I were to try such (providing we secured the permission of the captivating Miss Ellis) I fear we might look and sound ridiculous. But Sydney made the scene quaintly delightful.

And when Jennifer finally relents and decides to let her husband-lover stay, she uses also Sydney's arm and ear for a telephone to tell him so. Miss Ellis made it a lovable scene—which is the intention, I supose, of all love scenes.

A play is as strong or as weak as its love scene, I have always believed.

But to save my arch supporters I cannot tell you if "Meet the Prince" is a girder or a doughnut.

TOLEDOAN SLAIN IN PAWNSHOP

TOLEDO, O., Mar. 15.—A man who recently said that in case of a holdup he would kill the robber or be killed, lay dead here today with two bullet wounds, one in the right side and another in the temple, a victim of a robber's gun.

He is Phillip Goldstein, who was found dead in his loan and pawnshop here late yesterday afternoon. Goldstein is believed to have been dead many hours before the body was discovered.

This is the second mystery murder committed here in the last three days. Chris Stahes, 34, restaurant proprietor, was fatally wounded Monday night when a man walked into his place and shot him.

No loot was obtained from Goldstein's pawnshop as the assailant is believed to have fled after he fired the shots into Goldstein's body.

Seven of every 10 available workers in Peru were employed in agriculture during the past season.

Through express railway service between Tientsin and Mukden, China, has just resumed.

JURIES CALLED IN CANTON CASES

CANTON, O., March 15—(I. N. S.)—Special juries were drawn in Judge A. W. Agler's court yesterday for the murder trials of George Todoroff and Peter Musso.

The date for Todoroff's trial was set by Judge Agler yesterday at April 8. Todoroff is charged with killing Mrs. Helen Burkhardt by slashing her throat with a razor. He admits the killing and says the woman jilted him on the day set for their wedding.

Musso, a miner, is under indictment for the killing of a mine electrician who, he says, played practical jokes on him. Insanity is expected to be his defense.

This is the first occasion in several years in which deputies have been required to serve two fist degree murder venires at the same time.

Farmers Urged To Cut Costs.

Farmers of the Transvaal are being urged by the government to organize and adopt labor-saving methods in order to counteract the present agitation of native laborers for higher wages. Use of modern methods of farming and of modern machinery is being advocated, and an investigation into the possibility of manufacturing motor fuel for use on farms is being conducted.

Farmers of South Africa are complaining that the grey squirrel, imported from America, has become a pest and is doing much damage to crops.

Because of the drop in the price of sugar, Cuba's wealth has shrunk in the past eight years from $8,00,000,000 to $3,000,000,000.

At least 12,000,000,000 tons of highest grade iron ore are in Brazil, according to a recent estimate.

NEW ELEVATOR SERVICE SAFE

The elevator of the new Erlanger store has been designed to handle capacity shopping crowds during the busiest season. All the technical skill of department store elevator construction has gone into the making of this elevator.

The elevator has a 3,000-pound gear, with automatic landing and variable voltage control. Swift, sure and safe, it is provided with speed governor to operate the car, a safety device which securely grips the rails and brings the car gradually to rest in case of excessive speed due to breaking cables or any other cause.

The car cannot start while the doors are open nor can the doors open until the level of the floor is reached.

SPORTFIELD SUITS
Smart and Comfortable
$39.50

Sportfield Clothing is recognized the country over as the most authentically styled sports apparel made.

One reason for this is the fact that the men responsible for it are sportsmen themselves. Instinctively they know what types of fabrics look best on the links and are equally appropriate for the office.

These Sportfield Fours, consisting of Coat, Vest, Long Trousers and Knickers are full of dash and swing in cut and in material and weave they strike the keynote of the season which is conservatism.

Represented in this collection you will find all the new, quiet blends in rich colorings. Many of the fabrics are imported and all of them were selected for their durability as well as for their good looks.

150,000 MILES MAIL PLANES' SAFETY RECORD

Pilots Fly Equal of Six Trips Around World.

200-MILE ROUTE

No Stops Were Made Because of Mechanical Trouble.

DENVER. — An enviable aviation record—flying mileage equal to six times around the world, or 150,000 miles, without a single stop due to mechanical trouble—was set up during the year 1928 by the Western Air Express on the air mail route from Cheyenne, Wyo., through Denver and Colorado Springs to Pueblo, Col.

The route covers 200 miles, the longest scheduled hop being between Cheyenne and Denver, 100 miles. An average speed of about 100 miles an hour was maintained by the planes, which were in the air every day of the year, regardless of weather conditions.

Credit To Mechanics.

"Most of the credit for this efficiency should go to the mechanics," said Capt. L. W. Goss, superintendent of the Cheyenne-Pueblo division of Western Air Mail routes. "They are unsung heroes, so to speak, who are just as important to the service as the pilots, yet the public is hardly aware that this part of the service exists.

"Without expert mechanics, this record, and the record made by the Question Mark in California, would never have been established. Western Air Express ships are serviced and inspected every 24 hours with the same rigid precautions which mark the modern railroad service."

Whirlwind Motors.

Wright 200-horsepower Whirlwind motors, the same as was used by Col. Lindbergh on his trans-Atlantic flight, and also by the Question Mark, are used on the route.

More than 200 passengers were carried by the mail planes, besides mail cargo, and every one was delivered at their respective destinations on scheduled time.

HUGHES HINTED DRY BOARD HEAD

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—(I. N. S.)—Persistent reports that Charles Evans Hughes is to be offered the chairmanship of President Hoover's law enforcement fact-finding commission were given some credence today when it was learned after the former secretary of state had been an overnight guest at the White House.

Robert M. Hutchins, dean of the Yale Law school, who has also been mentioned for a place on the committee, had a half hour's conference with the president this morning.

HOHMANN BUYS EASTER STOCK

Albert Hohmann, manager of the men's department of the new Erlanger store, recently returned to East Liverpool from Cleveland where he had been connected with the clothing department of the May company.

Hohmann, who was with the Erlanger store for ten years before going to Cleveland, has broad knowledge of the clothing business.

He recently returned from New York where he selected the Easter stock for the men's department.

HOUGHTON WILL QUIT BRITISH POST IN APRIL

Ambassador Plans to Return Home, Capital Hears.

DAWES MENTIONED

No Appointment Expected for at Least Month.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—(INS)—Alanson Houghton, American ambassador to Great Britain, probably will return to the United States early in April and retire from his post, it was learned here today.

Houghton's desire to retire was described as "definite and irrevocable." His resignation was received on March 4, along with other customary and formal resignations of high-ranking diplomatic officers, but action on it has been withheld until his personal desires could be ascertained.

It is not probable that any successor will be appointed for at least a month, as President Hoover has determined not to make any immediate diplomatic appointments.

The gossip of the capital is that the post likely will be offered to Charles G. Dawes, who relinquished the vice-presidency on March 4.

TWO SESSIONS

Dinner Will be Served By Christian Church Women.

More than 400 members of the Order of Eastern Star from 19 Eastern Ohio chapters will attend the annual District No. 14 meeting which will be held in the Masonic temple, Broadway, next Wednesday afternoon and night.

Delegates from Canton, Massillon, Alliance, Salem East Palestine, Lisbon, Wellsville, Toronto, will be present. Beaver, Rochester and Steubenville lodges also have been invited.

Two sessions will be held, afternoon and night. The lodge women will be entertained with dinner in the banquet hall at 6 o'clock. The dinner will be served by women of the Christian church.

Officers will be elected at the afternoon session. This will be followed by a memorial service, to be conducted by the Salem chapter, Mrs. Hattie B. Lowry, Massillon, president of the District No. 14, will preside at the afternoon session.

Mrs. Savella Johnson, Columbus, grand matron, and Mrs. Hattie Heakin, Wellsville, deputy grand matron will be among the officers attending the meeting. Mrs. Johnson will conduct a school of instruction at the night session. A class of candidates will be initiated. Mrs. Nellie McLain, matron of Crystal chapter No. 18, will preside at the night meeting.

IOWA FARMERS TO SELL GAS

DES MOINES.—Iowa's farmers are going into the filling station business. The Farmers' Union will sell gasoline and oils to agrarians throughout the state at cost.

It has organized a corporation which is opening filling stations at stragetic points throughout the heart of Iowa's great corn-belt.

It is estimated that London will gain $2,300,000 yearly for the first five years from the new re-rating bill.

RUTH DRAPER MAKES 'EM LISTEN TO A WOMAN TALK AND LIKE IT

By David P. Sentner.
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service).

NEW YORK.—Ruth Draper, Broadway's three-ring circus, has passed her seventy-fifth presentation of original character sketches before crowded houses with nothing up her sleeve but her magnetism.

If you had asked me before she invaded Make-Believe Alley if such a solitary performance could last here more than a week, I should have told you only if the audience were padlocked.

It is difficult enough even in straight drama for an actor or actress to hold the attention of the audience. Various tricks of technique are used to prevent the audience from deserting the player.

Other characters interrupt the actor speaking to vary the flow of conversation. Characters move from a standing to a sitting position or from one part of the stage to another to distract the audience from long speeches.

The continual "asides" utilized by Eugene O'Neill and Shakespeare have been frequently termed tiresome. And many call the long speeches of Bernard Shaw's characters boring.

But here comes a mere woman surrounded by nothing but a velvet drop curtain, with not even a piano nor change of scene. And she entralls an audience for more than two hours each night with fascinating monologues.

In truth she is not one woman but many. She is a mother, fisherwoman, debuntate, lover, peasant woman, soldier's wife, American tourist, bride and widow.

She is life's demonstrator, stepping in and out of her show window to mimic the pains and the joys, the comedies and the pathos, of the things that everybody sees but nobody notices.

Did you ever notice—

That the desire to gossip lies deep in the human breast. On the porch in a Maine Coast village as well as at a fashionable bridge club.

The Professional Mother: "Lumps in your oatmeal, darling? Lumps are good, dear, they make you grow."

The Maine Fisherman's Wife: "It was a swell party. My son wrote me there was 18 barrels of swill."

Much as I enjoyed Miss Draper's characterizations, I do not believe she should make her performance last as long at it does. (More than two hours.)

No man likes to hear any woman talk that long. And no woman can let another woman talk that long.

Expert Workmanship Conscientious Treatment And Service

A good bit of time and consideration was given to the selection of a heating system capable enough to cover the requirements of a large store. After careful thought, the Dunham Vapor heating system was chosen, principally because of its marvelous, almost human-like automatic operation.

Expert workmanship, courteous treatment and service, briefly, are the attributes of this concern, that persuaded the Erlangers to employ us to install all the plumbing and heating in their modern edifice of business. These same attributes have won for us the approval of hundreds of home owners and building owners in this vicinity who have had occasion to use us.

We hardly expect you to pay a great deal of attention to the plumbing and heating of this new store on your first visit but as the years roll by and Erlanger's continue to operate their business with the same degree of efficiency, we'd like you to bear in mind that a good deal of credit to the maintenance of this standard of efficiency is due to the lasting qualities of the initial plumbing and heating.
